My treat for the day to have so many beautiful English Setters to go over. There were a variety of beautiful coat colours present as well. A few really good dogs were unfortunate enough to be out of coat, which does make a difference to outline. My winners were gorgeous with beautiful heads, dark eyes, correctly set ears, elegant necks and deep strongly ribbed bodies. They moved with style and were in full glorious coat

A very good representation of Springers. Some of "American" type and some of "English" type. I thought they were all of top quality, so all that remained was to sort out the best regardless. As far as I could see, the biggest difference in the dogs I had to judge was coat colour and to a certain extent - size. But they all had compact deep strong bodies, really good bone, heads that fitted the standard, with dark eyes, and excellent weather resistant coats with good feathering. They were beautifully groomed, and they were well shown. It was a pleasure to judge these dogs and I was pleased with my winners.

Not so many entries. The Best of Breed was square built, had good character, very good pigment and was a very good mover. In general though, I found some weak dogs in character and temperament.

Mrs Rose-Marie Cabion

A wonderful entry of very active happy Flat Coats. I was most impressed with the condition of the dogs and their wonderful coats. I felt the standard was high and the movement was mostly very good. I loved the beautiful long heads, with dark eyes and correct eye shape so typical of this breed. Sweet expressions with temperaments to match seemed to prevail. Lovely elegant necks, good bodies too. I found one or two of the dogs to be rather overweight.

No so many entries. The unification of the breed type should be kept. The Best of Breed had a very good head expression, very square built, muscle & bone were very well developed, forequarter, hind leg very well angulated and a very good mover.

Mrs Rose-Marie Cabion

What a delight to have such a strong entry of French Bulldogs, and many of them were outstanding. Some beautiful heads and expressions, compact bodies, good fronts, correct top lines and hindquarters. Mouths were good, mostly good bone and nice feet. One or two dogs had ears that could have been more parallel, but generally speaking, I think the high quality of the dogs I saw bodes well for the breed

JUDGES CRITIQUE

Mr Izumi Awashima

On average, need more trimming. German Shepherd Dogs are working dogs and bones and muscles should be stronger and dry. Body structure, especially back, overall joints (pastern, hock joints) should be firmer and stronger. Character is, in general, very good and stable. Many dogs should have higher withers, longer upper arms, stronger pasterns and hocks. There needs to be more driving power from the hind legs and more reach of forehands

Mrs Rose-Marie Cabion

A large entry of this breed with some top quality dogs. Mostly head planes were excellent and eye colour and shape good. Nice muscular necks and super top lines, deep bodies with well boned legs and good movement. A few dogs had rather too much stop and some muzzles were level as opposed to the desired curved "Rams nose". However these were in the minority and I enjoyed judging these typical and well shown representatives of the breed

Only one Klein, but such a good one, with attractive head, and the correct strong outline. Movement was quick and true and effortless. The coat was lovely and it was well presented and shown

A very good representation of these charming and beautiful little dogs. I really could not find a bad one in my entry which made judging them quite difficult. They all had very correct and typical heads, lovely dark eyes and rims, ears were good, bodies were compact with really good coats, and the colours were gorgeous. Good feet, movement was sound and brisk. A lovely lot of dogs
