CROP INSURANCE - Neil McAlpine

FEDERATION Insurance has long led the way in Crop Insurance in Australia. Our comprehensive Farm Packs cover every aspect of farm Insurance, from machinery and property to seed and crop. In the area of crop insurance FEDERATION are considered specialists.

The harvestable yield of any crop is dependent on the vagaries of nature and climate conditions such as drought, cold, excessive rain, disease, pests, hail etc. This will continue to affect the final yield through to full maturity.

To provide economic stability for the farm industry FEDERATION Insurance "Early Bird" crop cover ensures continuous cover for farmers from first growth to harvest, and right through to delivery of the crop to the silo or normal delivery point. (The transit insurance is an additional free part of the "Early Bird" policy covering against fire, flood, collision and overturning of the delivery vehicle.) FEDERATION Insurance has been able to offer this total cover without penalising farmers with higher premiums, and encourages farmers to insure their crops early.

Diagram of growth stages.

Hail

As hail is one of the most devastating natural disasters affecting crops, an accurate method of assessing hail damage was needed before total cover for crop could be offered. The methodology developed by FEDERATION, is based on establishing the number of grains present in a test area prior to hail and, depending upon the severity of the hailstone damage, the number of grains remaining (or the number of grains lost) due to hailstone damage.

The number of grains per test before the hail is calculated by counting the number of heads in the test site and multiplying this by the number of grains in the average size head representative of the test area. By ensuring that the test size is standard, and adequate tests are taken which are evenly spread throughout the crop, variations in yield because of factors such as change of soil types and qualities, is automatically taken into account. This is critical in assessment because yields are often uneven. A loss of half a crop area does not necessarily mean that half the yield is lost, it could be two thirds of the yield, or vice versa.

The overall philosophy of claim damage assessment is that when a farmer has suffered a loss of yield due to an insured peril, such as hail, the farmer is entitled to be paid the compensation for that loss in accordance with the conditions in the insurance policy.

The only way that this can be achieved is by fair and accurate assessment, which FEDERATION Insurance has been offering its clients for many years.

Equitable Premiums

Another area where FEDERATION Insurance have moved to ensure fair payments and premiums is in the study of the distribution of hail storm damage throughout the country. Although hail storms are unpredictable and it is accepted that throughout Australia no area is immune, FEDERATION Insurance has been able to use their 30 years and over of experience and collection of statistical data to determine which cropping areas of Australia are more prone to hail than others. This is reflected in the hailstone insurance premium rates, meaning that farmers in geographical areas rated as lower risks are not compensating the high risk area in their premiums.

Tailoring Insurance Needs

FEDERATION Insurance has always been innovative in its approach to crop insurance. Our recent policy improvements include the ability for the farmer to reduce premiums by insuring paddock by paddock, the ability to nominate their own excesses, optional Extra Harvest Allowance and the ability to vary cover against insured perils.

In keeping with the ever-changing needs of farmers and looking towards the 1990's, FEDERATION have introduced their own technology in the form of laptop computers which can give quick policy costs in the farmers own home, a one stop insurance concept which saves time and money, and gives farmers the insurance flexibility they need.

In addition, FEDERATION Insurance is constantly reviewing its farm loss adjustment procedures to keep pace with farm technology.

"Early Bird" is an investment in peace of mind. You not only get the most innovative insurance cover from seedling stage, through to flowering, to delivery to silo - but FEDERATION's expert crop assessors are trained to give accurate, without prejudice evaluation of any losses. That's the Australian farmers' growing assurance.

VICTORIAN WHEAT COMPETITION

JUDGES COMMENTS

Class 201

A.S.W. from Silo Group A

The winner A.G. & J.M. Willsmere of Underbool submitted an exceptionally high protein sample of Spear with acceptable test weight and well filled uniform vitreous grain appearance and low moisture.

The milling value and flour properties were very good.

The other winning entries were similar in terms of quality with the first prize winner having an exceptional level of protein.

CLASS 202

A.S.W. FROM SILO GROUP B & C

Entries in this class were of an unprecedented quality for Silo Groups B & C as a result of unseasonal conditions.

The first prize was awarded to Mr M. Johns of Warraknabeal with a high protein, high quality entry of Meering with high test weight and uniform vitreous grain appearance.

Again the other place getters were also of very acceptable quality.

This entry was also awarded the Champion A.S.W. prize.

CLASS 203

A.S.W. FROM SILO GROUPS D & E

The winning entry of Oxley submitted by W. & P. Lourie was particularly outstanding in terms of its very high protein level and clean well filled grain with low moisture.

The second and third place getters were also of acceptable quality with protein levels more typical of the Silo Group.

CLASS 204

HARD WHEAT

An exceptionally high protein sample of Cocamba entered by Mr C A Hart of Beulah was awarded first place.

Although the sample originated from a non traditional hard wheat segregation area unusual seasonal conditions have produced a Hard wheat sample of exceptional quality. The Hard segregation at Beulah was made possible as a result of the high protein in the area.

The place getters entries were also clean well filled grain with a uniform and vitreous appearance.

The winning hard wheat sample with milling value and flour properties of this level has high commercial value.

This entry was also awarded the Champion Hard and the Federation Insurance prize.

CLASS 205

SOFT BISCUIT WHEAT

R. & P. Nisbet of Mathoura were awarded first prize for an entry of Wyuna.

The sample exhibited typical Wyuna characteristics of plump grain, and lower test weight.

This entry was also awarded the Champion Soft prize.

CHAMPION

Safflower Seed

- Good sample.
- Fine white colour, exhibiting clean unstained seed ideal for birdseed export market.
- Good oil quality and low admix.
- Other samples were good however admix oil and staining made them not as desirable as winning entry. Samples for lower entries could have been larger.
- Best market today for Safflower is in birdseed trade therefore white seed is very important.

SUNFLOWER SEED

- Good sample.
- Good oil content and low admix.
- Market for Sunflower oil is still major and premium is paid for oil over 40% yield in the seed.

COMMENTS ON GRAIN LEGUME QUALITY 1991 SHOW

The number of entries this year was substantially down on last year. However, the actual quality of the entries was up. However, of the 13 entries submitted I decided to disqualify six because I was of the opinion that none of the six could possibly be representative of 25 tonnes, having been hand picked and sorted.

Of the seven entries judged, most of the points lost were due to insect damage and breakage, the general appearance and cleanliness being above average.

I recommend the Society let it be known that hand picked or specially prepared entries will again, in the future, be disqualified.

VICTORIAN BARLEY CROP - SEASON 1990/91

1. A record area was sown to barley in Victoria.
2. A very dry spring was encountered in Victorian cereal growing districts, resulting in variable yields and quality, with the late sown crops of Wimmera severely affected.
3. Barley Quality: Protein contents varied widely across the state.

Small grain size a problem for growers in meeting malting barley receival specifications.

Parwan barley of southern and south western Victoria was damaged, prior to being harvested, by rainfalls of up to 100 mm for the month of January.

OVERALL R.A.S.V. SAMPLE QUALITY (all samples had the following characteristics).

- ***** low moisture content.
- ***** very little weed seed contamination
- ***** little foreign grain contamination.
- ***** no frost damaged grains detected.
- ***** no shot or sprouted barley detected.
- *** all samples were true to variety

PRIZE WINNING SAMPLES

- ***** medium to large grain size (less than 4.0% screenings).
- ***** low protein content (malting quality samples 11.0% dry base or below.

PRESS RELEASE :

THE IMPORTANCE OF GRAIN PROTECTION

Surveys show that practically every grain producing farm has an infestation of grain insect pests. These infestations can cause severe financial costs to the grower through substantial losses of seed, feed and grain, and rejection of grain at silos. More importantly, because these farm developed infestations are likely to be passed on to other storages and ultimately the port terminals, they pose a threat to the entire export grain industry.

Clearly, insect infestations represent a serious problem in terms of the amount of grain they damage and the monetary cost to the economy and, more particularly, lost money at the farm gate,. Australia's success on the world grain export market has been based on supplying premium quality grain free of insects.

Wellcome Australia Limited has, for over 30 years now, worked in close collaboration with the CSIRO and Australian Wheat Board to develop grain protectants that are both effective and safe for use on crops for human consumption.

The addition of protectants is strictly monitored in Australia through the Australian Wheat Board, National Health and Medical Research Council and the Department of Primary Industry and Energy. Usage is governed internationally through the Codex Alimentarius Committee established under the auspices of the Food and Agriculture Organisation of the World Health organisation. Such approvals interrelate with various national organisations and also with the users of grain products. In Australia the Brewers Association and the Flour Millers Association play an important role in assessing that the protectants do not taint or affect their products.

This is a complex regulatory process which necessitates the production of vast amounts of data to display efficacy, safety of products and confirmation of residue levels, toxicology and analytical procedures. Wellcome Australia Limited, with over 30 years experience in this field, is unique in terms of development resources available to service all these stringent requirements.

The threat of resistance of pesticides by cereal insect pests and the strict requirements of international residue levels in export grains make it vital for all concerned with grain storage and handling to correctly use grain protectants to combat insect infestations, if the future of Australia's grain exports is to be safeguarded.

The recent example of unacceptable pesticide levels in meat exports to the US highlights the importance of protecting Australia's record as a supplier of quality agricultural commodities which meet internationally accepted standards.

In selecting a grain protectant, the farmer must consider the following points:

- * Will it control all grain insects, including resistant strains?
- * Is it approved by local and international authorities?
- * Can it be used in the Bulk Handling system?

* What is the withholding period?

To ensure that the grower can protect his wheat safely, effectively and without any mishaps, Wellcome has launched The Wellcome Grain Protection Kit. The kit contains a one litre tin of both Reldan and Sumithrin. The Wellcome kit will keep 50 tonnes of grain safe for up to 9 months. For larger producers, 20L drums are also available.

Using the Wellcome Grain Protection Kit, wheat growers can be confident that they will be able to market the maximum volume of quality grain, free from any insects or insect damage. And they can move when market conditions will give the best possible return.

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT

It doesn't seem that long ago since I wrote my report for the 22nd National and here it is the 23rd National. This year the entries were down a little on last year, but quality remains high. We used a new computer judging system developed by Ross Garner, by means of judging machines connected directly into the computer, enabling us to save considerable time on judging day. Thank you to the team who helped us on Judging Day at the Showgrounds; your help is invaluable to our Exhibition.

Our Commercially Processed prints section continues to grow and our latest baby the Junior Print section started very small this year and will be continued next year with additional promotion needed for it to grow. Thank you to our major sponsor, Michaels Camera & Video, without whom we would not have our National this year. Thank you also to Ross Garner for the judging machine set up, and to Sue Bolitho and her team at the Royal Agricultural Society, for the help in promoting and setting up of this event again this year.

An apology to all entrants for the omissions on the Report Cards this year, in that, I left off that all scores were out of 15 points. The acceptance column has a 'Y' in it if you had been successful. All accepted prints displayed at the Show.

Acceptance levels are as follows:-

Open slides . . . . . 9pts.
P/J slides . . . . . 11pts.
Nature prints . . . . . 9pts.
Junior Section . . . . . 9pts.
