The 2005 Royal Melbourne Poultry Show

is dedicated to

Gary James Sheppard
10 December 1944 – 7 May 2005

for his tireless work for the Poultry Fancy and his lifelong association with
The Royal Agricultural Society of Victoria Limited (RAS)

Gary started showing at the Royal Melbourne Show at the age of 14, and held his own against top breeders and exhibitors of the day. This was exemplified by his winning of the prestigious Best Bird in Show award in 1982. He was appointed a steward at a very early age and became a judge in the early 1980s. His expertise saw him judge at every capital city show except Perth and in 2004, Gary was honoured by being appointed Specials Judge for the Royal Show in Canberra, the largest poultry show in Australia and the Southern Hemisphere. Although the Canberra Show appointment was significant in terms of status, Gary's greatest thrill was being nominated Specials Judge for the 2005 Royal Melbourne Show, an appointment that sadly, he was unable to fulfil.

Gary was elected to the Council of the Royal Agricultural Society of Victoria in 1990 and appointed to its Board in 1997. He became a Vice President in 1999, a position he held until December 2003. His involvement with the RAS saw him actively involved in a broad range of areas and activities:

- Chairman of the Australian International Beer Awards Committee (11 years)
- Chairman of the Horticulture & Grains Committee (spanning several years)
- Chairman of the Feline Control Council (11 years)
- Committee member of the Dog Committee, Beef Cattle Committee and Human Resources Committee (spanning several years)

Gary was a true Ambassador, a great friend and a loyal supporter of pure bred poultry in Australia

INTRODUCTION

The Royal Agricultural Society of Victoria (RAS) is delighted to present the results of the 2005 Prime Lamb Carcase Competition.

The 2005 Competition attracted 46 entries comprising almost 16,000 lambs, with entries received from Victoria, New South Wales, South Australia and Tasmania. Lambs had an average kilogram of Carcase Weight was relatively low. Carcase Weight of 23.8 kg and 54.8 % Lean Meat Yield. An average of $2.12 total premium was paid per carcase entered.

Established by the RAS in 2002, the Prime Lamb Carcase Competition replaced the Royal Melbourne Show's 'Pen-of-Three Competition' and is a more accurate reflection of industry standards.

The Competition seeks to promote the production of prime lambs that meet export market specifications, especially heavy carcasses that exhibit high Lean Meat Yield. In addition, the Competition aims to provide producers with opportunities to benchmark their flock against fellow producers as well as providing comparisons with industry standards.

Entries in the Competition are assessed using VIAscan carcase assessment technology. VIAscan was developed by MLA and is currently owned and further developed by SASTEK. The Video Image Analysis technology uses colour images to electronically assess the Lean Meat Yield of individual carcasses at normal chain speeds.

The RAS is extremely grateful for the strong support provided by Castricum Brothers with their services and continued commitment to the Competition. Thanks are also extended to Meat and Livestock Australia and The Weekly Times for their continued support.

Congratulations to the winners in the 2005 RAS Prime Lamb Carcase Competition. We wish them continuing success in the future.

We are certain that this program will continue to provide producers with an opportunity to assess their flock and encourage production systems which ensure the growth of the industry.

Entry in the RAS Prime Lamb Carcase Competition requires a consignment of 200 or more first or second cross lambs with an average carcase weight of 20-30 kg to be processed at the Castricum Brothers abattoir in Dandenong. Consignments are assessed using the electronic carcase evaluation system, VIAscan (Figures 1.1 and 1.2).

VIAscan assesses carcases for Lean Meat Yield based on Carcase Weight, loin content and estimated fat depth and distribution using Video Image Analysis.

Images produced by VIAscan allow a more equitable evaluation of carcases than if value was based entirely on weight alone. This assures that producers growing higher yielding lambs are rewarded more than producers who offer fatter, lower yielding lambs of the same weight.

Par value is used to cost carcases and issued on a per kg basis. Using a grid system which incorporates Carcase Weight, Lean Meat Yield (%) and adjustments for above average Meat Yield scores, carcases are either determined to be discount, at par value or premium. Discounts and premiums are kept constant and issued plus or minus $0.20/kg based on par value. For instance, if par value is $3.46/kg and a carcase is deemed to warrant premium from the grid system, the carcase will be valued at $3.66/kg. Par value is not a fixed price and can vary depending on the time of year or season.

After all carcases in a consignment have been categorised as discount, par value or premium the average price per carcase is determined. This average price per carcase is then compared with the standard 'Over the Hooks' payment and is referred to as the 'Over the Hooks Comparison'. The difference between these two values is the total premium return per carcase.

The consignment with the highest premium return per carcase over the standard 'Over the Hooks' quote is designated the winner of the RAS Prime Lamb Carcase Competition.

RESULTS

The strong correlation ($R^2=0.65$) between Carcase Weight and Lean Meat Yield (%) is clearly evident. As Carcase Weight increases, the percent of Lean Meat Yield decreases, due to the fact that carcasses generally become fatter with increased weight.

The winning consignment attained the highest Lean Meat Yield percentage relative to its Carcase Weight and was therefore rewarded with the highest average premium (c/kg) as outlined in Figure 2.2.

The trend is for premium (c/kg) to decrease as Carcase Weight increases ($R^2=0.05$). Generally, the higher the Carcase Weight, the fatter the lambs, which reduces their value on a c/kg basis, as fat has to be trimmed - resulting in discounts from par value.

The slope of the trend line is not very steep as many consignments in the Competition were of a high standard, maintaining good Lean Meat Yield at heavier Carcase Weights.

Lean Meat Yield (%) shows a good relationship with higher premiums ($R^2=0.44$). Consequently, high-yielding carcasses are financially rewarded per unit of Carcase Weight.

A large proportion of the winning consignment consisted of premium lambs due to their high Lean Meat Yield (%) and as a result, the consignment achieved the highest average premium (c/kg).

The winning consignment received a premium of 16 c/kg and a Lean Meat Yield of 12.9 kg. It bettered the c/kg premiums received by other consignments with 12.9 kg Lean Meat Yield or more because this yield came from a relatively low 22.9 kg Carcase Weight. Therefore it achieved a higher Lean Meat Yield (%) compared to the kg of Lean Meat Yield from a heavier carcass.

Those consignments below the trend line attained a lower premium as the percentage of Lean Meat Yield per kilogram of Carcase Weight was relatively

CONCLUSIONS

The Competition's winning consignment achieved the highest Premium Value per Carcase, resulting from its combination of high Lean Meat Yield in relation to Carcase Weight.

This is the same way in which producers can be financially rewarded through the payment of premiums for commercial consignments of lambs that achieve high percentages of Lean Meat Yield from heavy Carcase Weights.

By requiring entry of a large quantity of lambs, the rigour and commercial relevance of the Prime Lamb Carcase Competition is maintained. Large sample sizes are necessary to gain a true and accurate measure of the characteristics of a flock, as influenced by the genetics and production systems utilised by the producer.

We look forward to the development of the Prime Lamb Carcase Competition and encourage producers to utilise production systems which lead to financial rewards through the delivery of heavy, high yielding lambs.
