BERKSHIRES.

P. J. Miller, Neil-street, Ballarat.

I think the aged boars and sows were a very fine lot, showing plenty of quality and the real type of the famous Berkshire breed. The same can be said of the sows under 15 months, but the boars under 15 months, with the exception of three or four, were a very mode ate lot. The exhibits in the younger classes, with the except on of a few, were of moderate quality, quite a number being badly marked, having plain heads, and faulty front legs.

YORKSHIRES.

T. G. Young, Preston Vale, Sedgwick.

(Complete awards in this section will be found on page 45)

There were a few fine animals that were a credit to their breeders. There were a few fine animals that were a credit to their breeders. The champion boar is a typical pig, and stood out on his own. He shows great type and quality, and should make a great sire. The champion sow is a splendid specimen of the breed, and has great length and quality. She is one of the best sows I have seen. The Reserve Champion sow is very nice. She was shown in splendid condition, and is a credit to her owner and breeder. There were some other fine animals shown; the fault with most of the exhibits being that they were light in the loin and flank, and some were too short, while others were rough and curly in the coat. Some of the younger pigs were nice, long and even, with fine hair and quality that is so much desired in a stud pig. If we want to do any good in the export trade we must produce a fine-grained bacon. We should go in more for length and shape, and leave the rough-coated, wrinkled pigs out of our studs.

SWINE BREEDS (OTHER THAN BERKSHIRES, YORK-SHIRES AND BACON AND PORK PIGS).

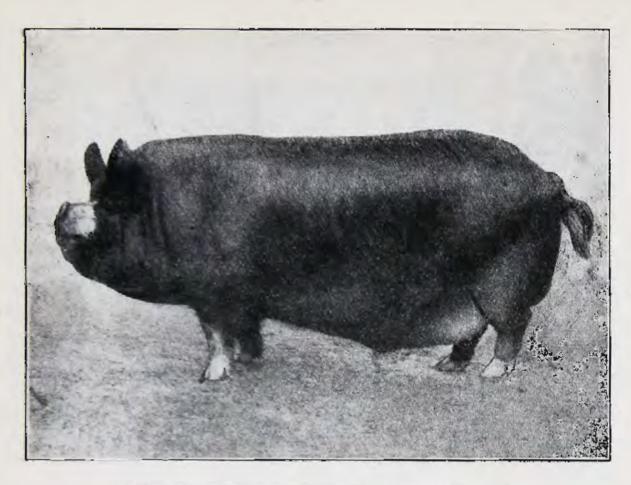

Luke Williams, Claremont Estate, Moonah, Tasmania.

(Complete awards in this section will be found on page 46)

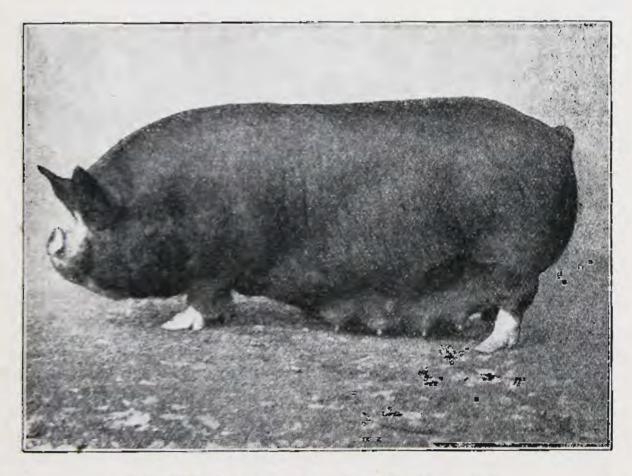

For the first time in Australia the R.A.S. of Victoria catalogued the whole of the eight pure breeds of pigs registered in our Herd Book.

Of the Large Yorkshires, the first prize boar was an exceptionally good one; long, massive, deep, and of great size. He drooped slightly at the tail, but was difficult to fault otherwise. The second prize boar was good forward, but weak in the hindquarters. The three placed sows were typical of the breed, the first prize winner being of good quality, but rather low on the rump. The second was a useful stamp, but had a black spot over the off eye. The third prize sow was the best bodied of the three, but her ears lopped forward rather badly, and she had two blue spots on her near side. One was about an inch across. Spots on the body are objectionable. Another sow had three black spots on the loin. This lot was shown rather rough, which placed them to a disadvantage against the cleaner white pigs in the Show.

Amongst the British Large Blacks, the winning boar was a big, long, well-grown pig, with some faults, but a good pig. The second was nearly a year younger, and not so well developed, and his stumpy tail affected his appearance. However, he was worthy of his prize. The third prize went to a four months' old pig, fine and neat, and one that should develop well. The third prize sow was a typical brood British Black, well-grown, fine head and ears, and of good body length. She was suckling five of her litter. (Sows only.) The second was a good sow, but her ears were rather open. The third was a well-built sow, with good head. Taken altogether, the Blacks are a credit to their breeders, and were well brought out.

Although the Gloucestershire Old Spots are a comparatively new breed, there was keen competition. Eight boars were judged. The Champion was a long, fairly marked, silky-haired pig, somewhat longer than usual for this breed, but as his sire and dam were both English bred, he should make a good sire.

The second was a good quality pig, but his markings were not so good, nor so well defined. The third was rather rough, and had a white hair on black skin, which should not be. There was another nice even-bodied pig, which came nearer to the true type, but he was lame on his off forefoot, which was much swollen. He also had white hair on black skin.

The sows (seven in number) were good on the whole. The Champion sow had a good back, but carried her tail rather low. She had a nice litter of eight well-grown suckers. The second was a good sow, but not equal to the first. Her knees were inclined to bend in. She had a nice litter of nine suckers. The third was a big, useful sow, with 15 teats.

Amongst the Tamworths, the boar over 15 months was a big, heavy, deep-sided pig, but he was rather dark in colour about the face The under 15 months boar placed first was a welland shoulders. shaped boar of good colour on top, but with some black spots along the belly. The second was a good, useful boar. The boar placed third was a good-bodied pig, but had a dark nose and face. He had a good back, and his tail was well set up. The first prize Tamworth sow was well-built and of good type, and fair colour on the body, but rather dark on the nose and behind the ears. She had a good litter of eight suckers. The second was not equal to the first, and was too dark on the nose and shoulders. She had a litter of five. The first sow under 15 months had a litter of eight. She had a clean skin, with some black spots about the nose. The second was a fair sow, not equal to the first in shape, and had a very dark face and was dark behind the ears. The Tamworths, as a whole, failed in colour, having too much dark hair and skin. There was no entry for either Poland China boars or sows. Still, I would recommend keeping this breed in the schedule, as there are several breeders in New South Wales and Queensland who may exhibit later.

The Duroc Jersey breed was represented by two boars, 15 months and 11 months old. They were of good type and colour, and fairly well grown. Their ears were rather straight and pricked, instead of drooping forward. I felt justified in giving each one a V.H.C. card.

cellent management of the Poultry Pavilion, and the care that is taken of the exhibits. I have judged at Royal Shows in the other States, but, in management and arrangement, I can truthfully say that Melbourne leads easily. The pavilion itself is, in every respect, quite the best in the Commonwealth.

Coming to the birds themselves, I am reluctantly compelled to admit that the White Leghorns, taking them all through, were disappointing. I was told by a prominent breeder that the birds had been bred to a "local," or Victorian, standard, to suit the requirements of breeders in Melbourne. This may possibly account for their deterioration, as in all other parts of the British Empire the English standard is the only one recognised for exhibition birds, and, judged by that standard, the White Leghorns in Victoria are certainly far behind those in the other States of the Commonwealth. The winning cockerel was the best of the male birds, but the first and second hens and the winning pullet were the only typical White Leghorns in the four classes provided. The majority were too small, and far too low-set and short in shanks. Moreover, with the exception of the birds mentioned, there was not a bird that had even a passable pair of white ear-lobes. Brown Leghorns were quite a different proposition, and in these classes some really excellent birds were shown. All the placed hens and pullets were of beautiful type and colour, and possessed good head points. There was not much between any of them. Cocks were hardly so good, still not bad, but cockerels were very good indeed, the winner being a very stylish and attractive bird.

Buff Leghorns were of wonderfully good type and quality, and were sound and even in colour, and were much admired. Black Leghorn males were the best of this colour, with the winning cock well ahead, but the hens and pullets were altogether too small, although fairly good in colour.

A few Duckwing and Exchequer Leghorns were penned, but if these colours are to become popular they will have to improve very considerably on the birds penned at this Show. Spanish were exceptionally good, and quite the best that I have ever seen, and I should like to congratulate the owners of the winning birds on the wonderfully good condition in which they penned their birds. Minorcas mustered well, but, taking them all through, were hardly up to the standard of what they were when Mr. Dwyer and a few other noted breeders were exhibitors. I had to pass quite a number of birds for having orange and almost orange eyes, a fatal defect in an exhibition Minorca, and breeders should rigorously discard from the breeding pen all birds with this defect. In this variety, the hens and pullets were of more even type and quality than their brothers. Some of the latter were inclined to be a bit leggy, and were not deep enough in body, but, as I stated before, some otherwise good specimens had to be passed over for badly-coloured eyes. Another defect that breeders must guard against is the high carriage of the tail. Many of the birds, cockerels especially, had their tails set, and carried far too high. Andalusians were good, the winning hen being a bird of exceptional merit. Several other good hens and pullets were also staged, and one or two nice male birds. It was pleasing to see such competition in this attractive breed. Buttercups only mustered two, and they were certainly two of the worst specimens of the breed that I have ever seen.

LIGHT BREEDS (OTHER THAN LEGHORNS, SPANISH, ANDALUSIANS, MINORCAS AND SICILIAN BUTTERCUP).

P. E. Furness, Croydon.

The display of poultry was beautifully staged in single tier, with wide alleys, plenty of light and space. The birds were attended to in a most efficient manner. They were kept clean and well fed, and supplied with an abundance of grit and green feed daily. The prize cards were put up quickly, and were soon followed by the championships, and the hall was opened to the public at 2 p.m. Some of the classes were numerically weak, and it is time the schedule was thoroughly overhauled to make competition keener.

WYANDOTTES.

T. Harding, Noble Park.

(Complete awards in this section will be found on page 51.)

The arrangements for the staging of the poultry are the best I have seen, and it makes judging a pleasure. The Golden Wyandottes were few in numbers, but the quality of the birds was well up to the average. In "Silver" males the entries were good, but the quality was only fair. In females there was a good entry of high quality birds. In "Whites," both classes were good and some fine birds were shown. Columbians were a nice lot. In the Trio Classes the entries were few and the quality poor.

ORPINGTONS.

P. A. Maude, Crescent Poultry Farm, Moolap, Geelong. (Complete awards in this section will be found on page 51.)

Black Orpingtons were in fair numbers, but the quality was still mixed, but not to such a marked degree as in previous years. The winner is a well-balanced bird of real good color, and feather perhaps a trifle loose, otherwise hard to fault. The second and third birds were on somewhat similar lines, but failed in quality and type. Hens were much more even in type, the winner being very good in color, type and quality. The second was a big bird of nice type, but failing in color. Cockerels proved to be the weakest class in blacks. Outside the winner they were coarse, loose in feather, too short in back, and very mixed in type. Pullets made a nice even class, with plenty of nice quality, good color and type, the winner being hard to fault. Buff Cocks were of very fair type. Many of them were uneven in color, and in most they had a bad under-color. Hens were very uneven in color, but of fair type and under color, but there was plenty of room for improvement. The cockerels handled much better, and the type also was more even, their color and condition being far ahead of the older birds. The pullets were of good type, but uneven in color. There were only small classes of White Orpingtons. On the whole they were of fair type, but bad in color, being too brassy. Whites have gone back considerably, and it is suggested that they be made into two classes. In the Pullet class only one award was made, as it was the only exhibit worthy of a prize.

RHODE ISLANDS AND LANGSHANS.

A. Angus, Pullar-street, Essendon.

(Complete awards in this section will be found on page 51.)

The Rhode Island red classes, especially those for Cockerels and Pullets, were easily the best that I have seen benched at a Victorian Show since the advent of this breed to the State. Breeders are exhibiting birds more to the type required by the standard. Colour still varies a great deal, many of the specimens staged being far too dark. The standard calls for a brilliant red—not mahogany. A good many narrow stringy feathered birds were also on view. Feathers should be broad and carrying lustre. Dull feathered birds are not desired, and may be likened to a linen handkerchief as compared with a silk one. The cock class could not be considered a strong one. The hens provided a fairly good class, there being little to choose between first and second. The winner, like the first cock, was rather dark in colour. Cockerels were a splendid lot, there being several specimens good enough to win at an ordinary show. Both first and second birds were of even type and of nice sound color. The pullets easily constituted the best class I have seen. The winner was a model for type, and could not be surpassed in this respect. She was of good colour, though not quite up to the mark in under-colour. Her eye was a bit on the light side, but nevertheless a model for type, and for this feature alone deserved the honour bestowed on her—the Champion Heavy Breed Bird of the Show.

The Rhode Island Whites were a moderate lot, and were really poor quality Plymouth Rocks.

Chinese Langshans, with the exception of the champion cock, were not regarded as a good lot. The previous improvement noted since their inception in this State has not been-maintained this year. Many specimens were found to be under weight, and some of them only for this essential feature would have been high in the awards.

The type was irregular. There were rarely two in a class alike, most of them failing by being too long and straight in the back, and cut away between the breast and thigh. Colour as a rule was also bad. Green is the colour, not purple.

HEAVY BREEDS (Other than Wyandottes, Orpingtons, Rhode Islands and Langshans).

T. W. Tyzack, Post Office Place, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this section will be found on page 52.)

With the exception of the Houdans and White Rocks the exhibits which came before me did not show much improvement upon those of the previous year. It was a pleasing surprise to see one of the oldest breeds—the Houdan—come again into prominence, and they were of good sound stock, too. The White Rocks were excellent and well marked and shown in good condition, and I regarded the Cockerel as the best bird in the Show. On the whole, the section was quite equal to former years.

LIGHT UTILITY POULTRY.

P. N. Tilley, 90 Balwyn-road, Balwyn.

(Complete awards in this section will be found on page 52-.)

The winning White Leghorn cock was of good quality with nice head and comb, good body, and well balanced on strong legs. The second prize bird had a smaller head and comb, and had a fairly good body. The third, though not up to the standard of the other two, was a useful breeder. Many of the others were much below the standard of the winners. The winning hen was of nice type and size, with clean face, good quality comb, good development and fine texture and bone. The second was another hen of good type, texture and development, but badly shown. The third had a good head and comb, with nice body, but was inferior to the winners in length and depth of body. There were several other good hens in this class, but they were badly shown.

The White Cockerels were good—the winner was well shown. This helped him to beat the winning cock for the Champion award. A nice-quality bird with good comb, face and body was awarded second prize. He was badly shown. The third had a good head and comb, but was too short and narrow in the body. The best Utility light breed in the Show was a White Leghorn pullet. She was good right through, and a fine specimen of the breed. The second had a good head and eye, but was not so good in the body as the first. A bird with a good head and comb and nice body was awarded third prize, but she was not so tight in the feather as the first and second. The pullets were a very good class, and several were very close to the second and third birds.

The Any Other Variety (light) Cock winner was of fair type and size, the second of good laying type, but a bit rough, whilst the third was only fair. A good strong Minorca hen with great depth and development won in the A.O.V. hen class, and a Blue Leghorn of fairly good colour and type gained second award. A Black Leghorn of good colour, but a little on the small size, gained first prize in the A.O.V. Cockerel class, and a fair Exchequer Leghorn was placed second. The Black Leghorn pullet was a typical layer with neat head, good development and fine texture. An Exchequer Leghorn of good type and nice body and development gained second award, and a good big Minorca gained third prize in the A.O.V. Pullet Class.

Quite a number of breeders spoilt their chance of winning by showing badly washed birds. Others were shown in poor condition.

HEAVY UTILITY POULTRY.

B. Mitchell, Kangaroo Flat.

The Black Orpington was, of course, the main breed represented, but after the placed birds and another similar number were taken into consideration, the quality was very poor. In the Langshan classes the males were also very poor indeed, and I consulted my steward as to the wisdom of awarding any prize at all in these classes.

Langshan females were very good, and Rhode Islands, both male and female, and the birds entered in the "Any Other Variety" classes were also very good. Taken as a whole, it was a good educational section, some very good birds and some equally bad ones being shown. I would like to suggest that the first, second and third birds be placed side by side, to give the public a better opportunity to see them together. As they are at present, it is very difficult to make a comparison, say, in a class of 24 birds, with the winner perhaps at one end and the placed birds at the other, and by the time the visitor gets from one end to the other (glancing at other birds on the way) the ideal is lost. No other show has done this to my knowledge, and it is an opportunity for the "Royal" to lead. If this were done I am sure others would follow.

DUCKS, GEESE AND TURKEYS.

P. Briggs, Chesterville-road, Moorabbin.

In this section I am pleased to report an excellent entry, and many of the specimens were of a very high order of merit.

The winning Aylesburys, Pekins and Rouens stood out for size and quality, whilst the white runner drakes were much in advance of the ducks. Fawn Runners were only second quality in comparison to those shown years ago. Muscovies made large classes, but nothing sensational in either size or type, and many of them were shown in bad condition. Khaki Campbells have yet to be bred up to a more uniform standard of colour to merit the name given them.

The Toulouse Geese and the Bronze Turkeys were much admired by the great crowd of visitors. This they fully merited, the winning gobblers being marvels for size, type and colour, though the hens failed somewhat in the latter point.

PIGEONS.

FANCY PIGEONS (Part III.)

Beards, Blondinettes, Satinettes, African Owls, Turbits, Nuns, Archangels, Saddlebacks, and Any Other Variety Fancy Breed.

G. Heath, 14 Railway-road, Glenhuntly.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 541)

The pigeons exhibited at the Melbourne Royal Show were up to the usual high standard. The pigeon pavilion looked splendid, everything about it being clean and tidy, and the pigeons well cared for. The long-faced beards are improving, and breeders are giving them more attention. Short-faced beards also were good. Blondinettes were the best I have handled. They were, in my opinion, the best variety in the Show. Amongst the African Owls some classy birds were penned. Turbits were well shown and of good quality, the successful young Turbit won the Cup for the best young bird in the Show. Nuns and Archangels were of high class. Saddlebacks made a fine display, some of the best birds in Victoria being amongst the competitors. I did not find one inferior bird amongst them. A Barb won in the "Any Other Variety" class. This was a classy bird, and one of the best Barbs seen in Melbourne.

UTILITY PIGEONS.

G. T. Cant, 174 Albion-street, West Brunswick.

The birds shown in the Utility Section were an exceptionally fine lot, and on the whole better than last year. The Red Carneaux, as usual, were a very fine lot, and very rich and deep in colour in all classes. Red and White were better this year, some very high-class birds of perfect condition being shown. Yellow, and Yellow and White were also very good and in large numbers. The White Carneaux were not quite as good as last year.

The Utility Carneaux were the best I have seen in any show.

Beautiful birds they were, and very large and of good colour.

Competition in the Maltese Classes was very keen, the birds being of high quality in all classes. On the whole, they were the best I have seen in any show.

White Kings were not numerous this year, but were very fine. The Mondaines were fair, but the Runts, as usual, were a very fine lot, both in size and type. Hungarians were a very fine lot, and there were very nicely marked birds in both classes. The benching and pens in the Show are just perfect, and the feeding and drinking arrangements and the light for judging are all splendid.

PRODUCE.

WHEAT.

H. A. Mullett, Agricultural Superintendent, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

The following entries were submitted to the Judge:—Class 1106, High Strength Wheats—3 entries, each of Minister variety; Class 1107, Federation—2 entries; Class 1108, Low Strength Wheats (other than Federation)—12 entries, including Gallipoli, Major, Austan, Joffre, Petatz Surprise, Penny, Moira, Ghurka, Red Russian.

There were 4 entries in Class 1109, Best Collection of 3 Varieties.

In the Sunshine Sheaf Competition there were 13 entries.

There were no entries in Class 1105, Macaroni Wheats.

In each class, except 1110, representative samples of each bag were milled at the Department of Agriculture by Mr. Minifie, whose services were made available through the courtesy of the Victorian Millowners' Association. The awards were based on the following scale of points:—Bushel weight 15, percentage of flour 15, strength of flour 20, gluten content 15, colour of flour 10, sheaf 3, general appearance of grain 25.

As a whole, the samples were not up to the usual standard, due, no doubt, to the wet harvest experienced. The flour appeared to be very bleached, and marks were heavily deducted on that score. In one or two instances, though the sample of grain was of satisfactory appearance, the gluten was perished. Some samples appeared to have been polished by mechanical means, with a view to improving the appearance and the bushel weight. Such methods, however, are to be deplored, and steps should be taken in future to prevent their use.

Competitors in these sections are required to submit a sheaf of wheat with their entry; where this was not forthcoming, 3 points were deducted.

The highest bushel weight was 68.7 lbs. per bushel.

The sheaves in the Sunshine Competition made a most creditable display. In preparing exhibits for this class, competitors should select only heads which are uniformly true to type.

OATS AND PEAS.

E. C. Robertson, 68 King-street, Melbourne.

I was very disappointed at the small number of exhibits. Even where there were more than two exhibits it hardly amounted to a competition. Most of the exhibits submitted were of very good quality. I would have thought that in the Oat Section, for instance, there would be many entries and keen competition.

MAIZE.

J. Fisher, Orbost.

There was about the usual display in the maize classes, with the exception perhaps of Yellow Dent. In this class the exhibit of grain which gained first prize was a very fine sample.

The other varieties, which included Yellow Flint, White Maize and Sweet Corn were about up to the usual standard.

SUGAR BEET.

P. R. Scott, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

The competition in this class was confined to three. The quality of the beet exhibited was, if anything, better than usual.

The roots were of good shape in that there was a freedom from forked roots, and a moderate percentage of green-coloured top. The roots, generally, were on the large size. Large roots are usually watery, and show a lower percentage of sugar than medium-sized roots.

The exhibits showed a marked variation of sugar content; the sugar in root of the second prize lot showing 24 per cent. less, and in the third prize 33 per cent. less than that found in the winning exhibit.

HAY AND CHAFF.

W. J. McGrath, 515 Collins-street, Melbourne.

The number of exhibits in the various classes in which I adjudicated was very disappointing, but in some instances this was compensated for to some extent by the quality, particularly those of oaten chaff, and the oaten chaffing sheaves. Although the number of exhibits in these classes was small, the quality was exceptionally good.

I strongly suggest that regulations precluding merchants from competing against growers in the Oaten and Wheaten Chaff exhibits be included in the Schedule, and if provision is to be made to allow merchants to exhibit, they should be in a class of their own..

It is difficult to explain the reason for the small number of exhibits, in view of the generosity of the Society in prizes, but I think perhaps the explanation is that at the time the Show is held most of the growers have got rid of their stocks, and they are not in a position, when exhibits are called for, to forward any. If some means could be devised to collect exhibits from growers earlier in the year, when stocks are still in their hands, probably much better competition would result.

Regarding the Student Competition, I found the competitors in this section to be very keen, and taking them all round they displayed plenty of knowledge of their subjects, and it struck me that they only required a little experience of market values for chaff and their judging would have been considered excellent.

FARM PRODUCE (except Cereals, Hay, Chaff, Sugar Beet, Potatoes and Onions).

Temple Smith, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

Taken on the whole, the exhibits in the section allotted to me were disappointing in number, though the quality was good in several cases, notably in the collection of grasses, which was most comprehensive and well arranged.

The mangels were good, as were also the carrots and pumpkins.

It is to be regretted that there were no exhibits of cotton or tobacco, and I think it probable that possible exhibitors of these products are not aware of the prizes or conditions attaching to these items, otherwise exhibits would be sent in.

TABLE VEGETABLES.

G. T. Allnutt, Centre Dandenong-road, Cheltenham. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 68).

According to the season the exhibits were wonderfully good in most lines, excepting that there was not enough competition in any of the sections. I consider it advisable to take into consideration the staging of table vegetables for judging on the Tuesday morning following instead of the Friday, as the Tuesday's market is the biggest market, and the growers would have a better choice of selecting their show vegetables than they would for the Friday morning's judging; and if staged on the Tuesday they would be fresher for the Show holiday when there is the biggest attendance of city people. Another suggestion I would make is in the classes for aspargus and radishes, in which the Schedule states distinctly 50 sticks of radishes. If the Council could see its way clear to insert "the best bunch containing about 50" it would simplify the judging and help the exhibitor in some cases, as I consider a bunch of asparagus with 45 good sticks could be a better exhibit than another bundle containing 40 good sticks and 10 inferior ones, which was very marked in this year's exhibition of asparagus.

ONE FARM COLLECTIONS.

(a) CEREALS, GRASSES, OTHER GRAINS AND SEEDS, FLOUR, MEALS, HAY, CHAFF AND SILAGE.

A. C. Drevermann, Longerenong College, Dooen. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 68).

It was very pleasing that the number of exhibits over the previous years was doubled. The exhibits as a whole were very creditable, although in one case, that of Swan Hill, all the material had not come to hand at the time of judging.

In some cases there is certainly room for improvement, and a point was made to discuss these with the representatives concerned. This more particularly refers to the new competitors, who, no doubt, will be assisted by the suggestions when preparing exhibits for the next Show.

(b) DAIRY PRODUCE AND FOODS.

G. H. Deeley, 13 Elliott-avenue, Murrumbeena. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 69.)

The quality of the butter in all the districts was good, but only in one was the display made to stand out before the public. There is still room for a larger display, and a higher standard in the flavour.

The samples of cheese were splendid, but exhibitors should try and do better in texture and flavour. The finish was good. Samples of milk and cream were good in some districts, while in others they were only fair. In one display the hams and bacon were almost perfect, while others did well, still leaving a lot of room to improve in finish and colour. The displays and quality of the small goods were fine, except in one district, where they missed showing, which meant a loss of several points. Two of the districts did well in preserved meats, while the others had none.

There was a fine display of eggs, the size and quality being good. In two of the districts the displays and quality of the confectionery, cakes and scones were splendid and should have much praise for the good work. One district did not exhibit in this section.

(c) FRUITS, VEGETABLES, ROOTS, Etc.

J. Milburn, "The Grange," Keilor.

In Whittlesea District Exhibit the fruit was equal to, or a little better than in the previous year. The growers seem to give special care to grading and the showing of their fruit to the best advantage.

The fresh vegetables were a fine lot, were well grown and the quality was first-class. The cauliflowers were very compact and of fine size, and the cabbage also was good. The potatoes were first-class, being well grown right through—really a perfect lot. The roots were good all round, the swedes being particularly fine.

In the Warrnambool District Exhibit the fruit all round was good, being of splendid colour and well grown. Some of the varieties were over ripe.

The fresh vegetables were in good variety, but not of good quality all round. The pumpkins were a fine lot. There was a good variety of potatoes and of satisfactory quality, but apparently there was not room to show them to the best advantage. The roots were good, but lacked variety. The mangolds, though good, were not shown to advantage.

The features of the Swan Hill District Exhibit was the citrus fruit, the navel orange being very prominent. The apples were good, but badly shown, being in boxes instead of trays, and in addition some were over ripe. The fresh vegetables were too late for judging, they being delayed on the way. The pumpkins showed to advantage.

The Sale District fresh fruit was not impressive; it lacked variety, and some of the specimens were over ripe.

The "Delicious" and "Red Rome" varieties were good. The fresh vegetables were well grown, but showed signs of staleness. The potatoes were in good variety, but the quality was only fair. The tubers were not of good shape. The roots lacked variety, but the quality was very fair. The sugar beet was good. The fruit and vegetables in the "One Farm" exhibits were very creditable.

Miss A. Knight, c/o Department of Agriculture, Melbourne. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on pages 73, 74, 75.)

Warrnambool had a splendid display of preserves, including about four hundred distinct varieties in all.

The bottled fruits and vegetables were well graded, and all presented a fresh appearance in the jars. Pickles and sauces were also of a good quality and well represented.

The dried fruits could be much improved in quality and also in appearance. The honey was of fine quality and well arranged. The whole of this section was attractively displayed. Jellies were clear and brilliant, and were shown to advantage—all containers throughout being neatly sealed and labelled in a uniform manner.

Sale had a fairly good exhibit of preserves. The fruit in most of the jars was nicely graded and packed. In some of the bottles the fruit appeared to have lost its freshness.

The marmalades and conserves were nicely made. I would think it an advantage if a number of the marmalades and clear jellies were exhibited in tall containers, which would show off the quality of the products without being extravagant in quantity.

The dried fruit was very good. The honey also was good.

Whittlesea had a good collective display of bottled fruits and vegetables, which were mostly of a fine quality. The pickles and sauces were nicely made, and those of the mixed variety were well blended. There is still room for variety in the "clear-dressing" type, which, if packed in quantity in a few large jars, would present a bolder display in the pickle section, and in this manner help to show off the smaller jars.

Dried fruits were very fair, but if sulphured a little more before drying the fruit would present a brighter appearance. Honey was very good. The exhibit of preserves in Whittlesea exhibit was nicely arranged, and brightened by the addition of fresh green plants, which was an improvement on previous years.

The bottled fruits section in the Swan Hill exhibit could with advantage be much larger and more varied; also a larger collection of citrus preserves, conserves, etc. The dried fruits were very attractively put up, and were shown in quantity.

The honey also was of excellent quality. The preserved vegetables could also be exhibited in a larger way, which should help to make a more prominent display.

In my opinion, the preserves section in this exhibit could be shown to greater advantage if it were raised and displayed so that the light would be behind as well as in front of the jars of fruit products.

J. C. Gardner, Prahran.

The outstanding feature of the District Exhibits was the breaking away from the conventional or usual style shown in previous years of the Warrnambool section. It was an excellent display, but was a bit jumbled up on one side, and overcrowded, thus taking away a little from the general finish. The comprehensiveness of view was excellent. The fact of such a breaking away tended to make Whittlesea and Sale exhibits a bit stiff in outline. The Whittlesea exhibit sectional stands were excellent, the same care being taken all round them, even where the public could not notice. The Sale exhibit was overcrowded with hangers, thus spoiling the comprehensive view, while the sectional stands lacked finish. Swan Hill were very much handicapped in being late, Their display was too heavy in front, and too thin in the background. They had the variety, but not enough quantity. Their goods wanted better displaying, and a more experienced window dresser to show them to the best advantage. However, next time, we will look for a great improvement. The ticketing on both Warrnambool and Whittlesea was much better than usual. To return again to Warrnambool, the moving boat was very effective, and put a touch of life into the Show. No doubt all competitors will try harder next year, and make all districts, if possible, stronger than ever.

STATE SCHOOL COMPETITIONS.

- (a) VEGETABLES, POTATOES AND HORTICULTURE.
 - J. Brundrett, State School Nursery, Poath-road, Oakleigh.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 69.)

The exhibits were very good and compared very favourably with any grown by amateurs, and reflect great credit on the children and teachers of the schools exhibiting.

outside and green in the nephre

The vegetables were of a high-class standard, and in some cases the winners won by a very narrow margin.

The budding and grafting exhibits were well done and showed very careful work.

Great credit must be given for the excellent display of potatoes. All the other exhibits shown were very creditable indeed.

The work carried on at the schools should have a great influence on the future lives of the pupils, whether they take up farming in the country districts or occupations in the town.

(b) FORESTRY, FRUIT, FODDER CROPS AND GRAIN.

F. J. Rae, Principal, Burnley School of Horticulture, Burnley. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 68.)

In general the specimens submitted in the Forestry Classes were not of a particularly high order, and few of them gave promise of developing into vigorous well-shaped trees. In Classes 1226 and 1228 I would recommend the use of the name "Australasia" instead of "Australia." There is considerable dispute as to whether certain plants are native to Australia or New Zealand. Competitors are very often cut off from authoritative sources of information, and a certain amount of confusion ensues. Taking Pittosporum Eugenoides as an example, a very reliable plant catalogue states that it is native to Australia, and it was shown as such. Baron von Mueller, however, states that it is native to New Zealand. Many such moot points arise, and I think that the wider term is desirable.

There was only one collection of citrus fruits. There are, however, few varieties of fruit available at this time of the year. Stone fruits are out of the question. Apples and pears are not available unless kept in cool stores. Southern schools will probably never be competitors. On account of the few varieties of fruit available, and the restricted competition, I would be inclined to abolish this class altogether.

In Classes 1232 and 1233 declarations signed by both the head teacher and the district inspector would be advisable to make sure that the fruit was actually grown in the school ground and prepared by the pupils. At present there is not sufficient safeguard that the exhibit has not appeared previously.

In a general way most of the exhibitors in the classes for fodder paid rather much attention to mere height of crop. The bundles also were made up in such a way as to exaggerate the height. Much more attention should be paid to cutting the crop at the right stage of maturity. Some had been cut far too early—notably the millets. The result was a soft fodder lacking altogether in substance. Some of the oats were in a similar condition. On the other hand many—particularly the rye and wheat—had been allowed to go too far so that the grain was well set and the straw hard and of little fodder value.

Many of the fodder exhibits of course had to be cut months ago and stored, so that a certain amount of deterioration in appearance was to be expected. In many cases efforts had been made to retain the green colour by protracted curing in the shade. I think such artificial practices should be discouraged. They should aim at producing a good commercial sample of fodder under natural conditions. There will then be less deterioration during storage. The shade-cured bundles especially if stored where exposed to bright light were bleached on the outside and green in the centre.

Some good samples of grain were shown, but they could have been greatly improved by more careful grading. Large and small grains were often mixed together. With such a small quantity of grain it is quite allowable to resort to hand picking to secure a prime sample. The presence of pinched or shrivelled grain is quite inexcusable.

In the classes for peas and beans, and to a less extent for maize, the conditions permit of such a wide range of entries that judging is extremely difficult.

In one class the varieties ranged from small haricot beans to large broad beans, and these had to be judged against one another—Shetland ponies against Clydesdales—a very difficult task.

Without creating many new classes, I cannot suggest any way out of the difficulty.

(c) FORAGE AND ROOTS, GRASSES, CLOVER, HONEY, FLAX, COTTON AND TOBACCO.

W. F. Friday, c/o Agricultural High School, Sale. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 69)

The quality of the exhibits in roots was equal to that of previous years. Great care had been taken in the preparation of the ground, and the roots were exceptionally sound. A little more care should be taken over labelling. The labels should always show the names of the varieties. Simply writing "sugar beet" is not sufficient for educational purposes. The same remark applies to grasses, etc. The grasses and clovers were splendid specimens, and were better preserved in most cases than during previous years. A better colour was noticeable.

This is evidently a result of the work of the supervisor, who forwarded to various exhibitors much valuable information in regard to the preparation and care of grasses intended for exhibition at the Show. I was again disappointed at the poor display in natives grasses. The honey and beeswax were as usual of very high quality. There were no exhibits in cotton, and only two in tobacco. One exhibit in tobacco leaf was very good. There are likely to be several exhibits in tobacco leaf next year.

DAIRY PRODUCE.

CHEESE.

G. C. Sawers, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 71.)

The entries were similar in number to last year. With the exception of two private competitors, all others were factory makes.

In the class for cheese over six months old the flavours were exceptionally clean, as compared with last year, especially in the cheese gaining honours; but all others, while fairly clean, showed slight bitterness, harshness and weakness in bodies.

In the class for cheese under four months old the winning lots were very clean in flavours, firm in body, close in texture and meaty. The same can be said about the others as regards body and texture, with the exception of one "Competitor make," which showed sweet holes, due to insufficient acid in the curd. The flavours of other makes were not too clean, some showing excessive acid.

In the class suitable for export there were only four entries, and the first prize cheese that also secured the Champion award was, in my opinion, two and three points ahead of the second and third prize winners, although the latter lots were made from pasteurised milk.

The both classes for loaf cheese competition was very keen in the prize lots. The others were unclean and acidy.

However, I must admit, that, taking the cheese exhibits on the whole, the bodies and textures have been well maintained.

BUTTER.

P. J. Carroll, Department of Trade and Customs, The Rialto, Collins-street.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 71.)

The quality of the butter in the various exhibits was of a very high standard, both in regard to flavour and manufacture. It was noticeable, however, that in the export class there was rather too serious a decline in flavour in the interval between the first and second examinations. The prize winning butters, however, were exceptions, as the quality in the interval was well maintained. The lesson to be learnt from this fact is that the pasteurisation of the cream before butter making was not efficient, with the exception of the few exhibits above referred to.

There is a valuable object lesson here for factory managers, which I hope to make use of when bringing under their notice the necessity for great care in the processing of the cream before churning.

The great value of the pre-examination of butters in this class is the test of the keeping properties, and with a view to increasing the value of this test, I would suggest that the period in cool store be extended from eight weeks to twelve weeks. This is the period now generally accepted in the other States and New Zealand in connection with exhibitions of export butter.

The quality of the butters in the other classes was indeed very satisfactory, and the manufacturer and preparation were all that could be desired. Even the farmers' butters showed a marked improvement as compared with previous Shows, although this class of butter does not enter very largely into the butter trade, but it is at least an indication that better methods are being employed on the dairy farms.

I sincerely regret that the entries were not at least five times as large, and I cannot understand the apathy of factory managers in Victoria in connection with exhibitions of this nature.

I visited New Zealand recently, and saw at the Auckland Winter Exhibition over 400 entries in the butter classes, with a similar number in the cheese classes. During the currency of the Show the factory managers held a conference, when opportunities were taken of the presence of Government officials to have demonstrations in grading and butter manufacturing, with the result that the Exhibition becomes a source of valuable education to factory managers.

The facilities for judging at the Show were satisfactory, and until many more entries are received I do not feel disposed to make any recommendation for further extensions or improvements.

BACON, HAMS, LARD AND EGGS.

H. Pope, c/o R. G. Wilson and Co., Elizabeth-street, Melbourne. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 71.)

A report on the section for bacon, hams and lard can only be but brief. It was most disheartening, both to the exhibitor and myself, tofind no competition. It seems as if George Farmer reigns supreme in the bacon world. The quality of his exhibit was without blemish, therefore, I awarded it the full 100 points. I suggest that ways of improving this section be discussed. Surely with the number of bacon curers now in Victoria there should be keener competition.

WINES.

W. W. Senior, c/o M. Lang & Co., Market-street, Melbourne; C. W. Simmonds, c/o J. Connell & Co., Bourke-street, Melbourne; T. C. Seabrook, 47 Queen-street, Melbourne.

This section was more than usually interesting, not because the quality of the wines was superior to those of previous years, but rather for the high average merit of the exhibits. It would appear that the appreciation of fine wines is more general among merchants and growers, and greater discrimination is being shown in selecting wines for competition. Because of the general good quality of the wines, the judges found their work unusually difficult, and in many instances only the smallest margins separated the placed wines.

As usual, the dominating wine of the Show was a hock from the Lilydale district, which had remarkable bottle character, and was altogether typical of the fine wines which have come from this district. Probably the claret was the most even class; there was not an indifferent wine, and out of eleven exhibits five were placed; also they were lighter in character than at previous Shows, and approximated more to what a claret should be.

The largest entry was in the port class, and the well-known quality of this type did not suffer. A commendable feature was the low sugar density of the five placed wines. This year the first prize went to a different grower from South Australia, who is practically a new exhibitor.

The judges were pleased to note a general improvement in the sherries this year. The first prize was won by a wine of considerable merit, which was also shown by a new exhibitor.

The attention of exhibitors may be directed to the classes where the beaume density is limited to 4 degrees. In one class of eleven entries, seven exceeded the limit, and in another two out of three entries also were over the 4 degrees.

In the sparkling wines, both white and red, the entries constituted a record. All the exhibits were fine, and indicated the high standard reached by makers of sparkling wines.

The makers' classes for 1924 wines were this year adjudicated upon by the judges of the open classes. The entries were disappointingly few, but no exception could be taken to the quality, as generally they showed considerable promise, especially the dry wines, both white and red.

FRUITS.

APPLES.

J. W. Bailey, Narre Warren.

The fruit was on the whole of excellent quality and appearance, and was well staged. The competition in the pyramids was very keen, several of the exhibits being very close. The fruit kept very well throughout the Show (very few varieties not holding out), especially when it is taken into consideration that they were in storage for some months. This reflects great credit upon the Cool Stores' engineers, who are responsible for the keeping of the fruit.

PEARS.

J. Jordan, Burwood.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 74.)

The quality of the pears was quite equal to that of previous years— Josephine de Malines, Packham and Winter Nelis—being particularly noticeable for their splendid quality and freedom from disease and blemish. Growers are apparently realising that uniformity and freedom from diseases and blemishes are essential in fruit exhibitions.

The quality of fruit shown in the pyramids was very high-class, and reflected great credit on growers and those concerned in the arrangements. I would suggest, in view of the large amount of valuable fruit necessary and length of time devoted to the building of the display that a substantial increase be made in the prize money.

CITRUS FRUIT.

S. A. Cock, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 74.)

The citrus competition exhibit at this year's Show was a very excellent one from the fruit quality standpoint. Entries, however, were somewhat disappointing considering the prize money allotted. This was most noticeable in the District Competition, for which three entries were received and only one exhibit staged.

Eleven entries were received for the Export Packing Competition, and eight competitors staged exhibits. Competitions in this section should increase in future.

With regard to the District Competition, although the entries were disappointing this year, it would be a pity to eliminate this section from the prize schedule. I have talked over the question of competition in this section with the Secretary of the Central Citrus Association, with the result that next year an endeavour will be made to see that most of the District Associations stage an exhibit. It seems necessary to get into personal touch with the District Associations relative to competitions of this character. I recommend, therefore, that the section be continued, but suggest that the space allotted on the stand be 8ft. x 8ft., instead of 6ft. x 6ft. as at present. By increasing the size of the show stand Californian methods of District Competitions will be more closely followed. More space will be allowed for the arrangement of the various varieties of fruit; also there will be greater scope for initiative in design and artistic arrangement, and the attractiveness of the exhibits will be greatly enhanced.

In the other sections the entries and competitions were equal to the previous year, and the quality of the fruit very good. I recommend that all these sections be continued without any alteration to the present schedule.

The correct naming of the different varieties has a distinct educational value, and competitors' exhibits this year were, from this standpoint, much in advance of last Show. The adherence to the principle of insistence on this phase of competitive exhibition commends itself much to the public and is of educational value to the competitors.

APPLE PACKING COMPETITION.

- J. M. Ward, Superintendent of Horticulture, 605 Flinders St., Melbourne.
 - B. Krone, 605 Flinders Street, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this section will be found on page 75-.)

The Children's Packing Competition represented a feature not before attempted in Victoria or previously seen at the Royal Show. It compared more than favourably with fruit packed by adults.

The exhibit comprised 160 cases of fruit, and was packed by children between 12 and 14 years of age from schools in various fruit-growing districts of the State. These children attend Packing Classes conducted by the Department of Agriculture.

This competition was undoubtedly the outstanding feature of the fruit section, and provided the most educational and comprehensive display of packed fruit that has ever been seen at this Show.

APICULTURE.

F. R. Beuhne, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 75.)

There was a decided improvement in the number and quality of the exhibits in the Apiculture Section. It has been suggested that the distinction in the prize schedule between honey from native and from introduced flora be discontinued, and that the prize money be allotted to one class instead of two. In my opinion, this would be a retrograde step. The amount of honey obtained from introduced flora is increasing year by year owing to the increase in the acreage of lucerne and clovers. These honeys are so distinct in character that they could not be judged fairly in competition with honeys from native flora any more than white wines in competition with red.

WOMEN'S INDUSTRIES.

PLAIN NEEDLEWORK.

Mrs. Harvey Smith, Upper Beaconsfield.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 75.)

I felt very disappointed with some of the classes in my section. In some cases there were only one or two entries. Better competition is greatly to be desired. The one specimen of hand-sewing that was shown was very poor. I cannot think of any reason why there was not a better response in the Plain Needlework section. Perhaps the prize money is not attractive enough. It might be an improvement if the knitted dresses, jumpers, etc., could be hung on the wall where the ante-room is; they would show off better, and leave the glass cases for more dainty exhibits. The colours are so varied, and to put the exhibits in their classes one cannot help the clashing of colours. There were so many exhibits in the knitted and crochet frock classes that the cases were crowded. Some of the woollen knitted garments were finished with silk crochet work, and had to be disqualified on that account. This also applies to a doll dressed in wool. Perhaps a special note might be made that "wool only" must be used. On the whole, the plain needlework exhibited was good, but I would like more competition.

FANCY NEEDLEWORK.

Miss O. Voullaire, 46 Millswyn Street, South Yarra.

Though this year the judging of my section was very difficult, on account of the work in most classes being exceptionally good, it was at the same time an enjoyment to see such a great improvement; so great that any true lover of needlework will have considered this year's exhibits a feast for the eyes.

There were some outstanding examples, such as Miss Sudholz's crochet table cover, Mrs. Surridge's coloured panels, Miss Field's hedebo embroidery, Miss McKenzie's trousseau set, and many others. The open and professional section brought out very few entries, but I sincerely hope that this section will grow and be of real educational value to the needle-loving public in general. Though there were still a few pieces of Richelieu work with the bars worked wrongly, there was even in this class an improvement worth noting, and slowly, but surely, the women of Australia are catching up to their European sisters in the art of needlework.

FINE ARTS.

Mrs. Theo. Anderson, Barwon Side, Murgheboluc.

There was a great improvement throughout the Art Section, and a great advance in the standard of the work in general, although in the class for oil painting of figure from nature, the entry was poor. This class demands a considerable outlay on the part of the exhibitors, and I think this is the reason for the poor response. Nobody who paints well would think of sending in unframed work, and the cost of freight has to be taken into consideration by the exhibitor. In my opinion, the prize money is not high enough for the outlay entailed.

I would draw attention to the difficulty of judging photographs that are framed and not of a uniform size. There was a great improvement in this section—and, in fact, in all the others, with the exception of the class previously mentioned.

ARTS AND CRAFTS.

Miss Tronson, 69 Drummond Street, Carlton.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 78.)

In some classes in the Arts and Crafts Section there were not as many entries as I should have liked. In the first place, I have felt that the Show is not advertised sufficiently long enough before the closing date for entries. I think that if in the country papers and in the women's section of the Melbourne daily papers the Society advertised it a couple of months before, giving directions how to get a prize schedule and the date of closing of entries, much good would result.

Considering the great deal of leather work seen at the Arts and Crafts Exhibition at the Town Hall, we ought to have had more entries. I think "poker work" should be scheduled as "poker work on suede leather or wood." "Hand-tooled leather work" might be substituted for "embossed," for, although it is the same thing, amateurs might understand it better. The raffia work is very popular, but only three entries were received. These were all good. Only one hat was shown. That class should have attracted many. In wood carving there were only two entries, but the screen was particularly good. I am surprised that chip carving does not attract more entries, for so many do it. French pen painting seems still to draw competition. A good number entered for the advanced class, which was of a better standard.

HUNTING CONTESTS.

H. J. Gidney, "Bangalore," 19 Bay Street, Brighton.
(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 80).

Taking the Hunting Contests on the whole, the exhibits were much more numerous that at any previous Show, and they were of a high standard.

In the "Philips Ormonde" Novice Jumping Plate, 26 horses competed. They jumped 241 fences. The winner gained the full number of points and the second-prize winner only lost one point.

There were twenty entries in the "Punch" Jumping Plate, in pairs. They jumped 314 fences. The winning pair gave a beautiful exhibition of jumping, and were together throughout.

In the "White Horse" Hunters' Plate, 23 horses competed. They jumped 257 fences. The winner lost one point, and the second-prize winner only two points.

Fifteen horses competed in the "Melbourne" Jumpers' Plate. They jumped 251 fences. The jumping in this event was exceptionally good. The winner went at a nice, even pace, and never touched a fence. The second-prize winner only lost one point, and the third only two points.

"Scott's" Pony Jumping Plate brought out 19 competitors. They jumped 169 fences. The winner lost one point, and the second-prize winner three points.

In the Pony Hunters' Plate 7 ponies competed. They jumped 68 fences. The winner gained the full number of points. The second-prize winner lost one point, and third-prize winner four points.

The "Craig Williamson" Amateur Jumping Plate brought out 17 horses. They jumped 210 fences. The winner won by one point, and the second-prize winner was only one point in front of the third.

In the "Olympian" Hunting Contest, 12 horses competed. They jumped 110 fences. Only five horses got as far as the water jump. The winner lost four points, the second-prize winner seven points, and the third-prize winner twelve points.

The "National" Jumpers' Plate, in pairs, brought out 10 competitors. They jumped 163 fences. The winners lost one point, the second-prize winners lost three points, and the third seven points.

In the Ladies' Hunters' Plate, 12 horses competed. They jumped 180 fences. The winner and the second-prize winner both gained the full number of points for jumping, but the winner won on conformation. The third-prize winner only lost one point for jumping.

Thirteen horses competed in the "Maples" Heavy-weight Hunters' Plate. They jumped 192 fences. The jumping in this event was of a very high class. The winner never touched a fence, and he gave a faultless exhibition of good, clean, quick jumping. The second-prize winner also gained the full number of points for jumping. He did not land and get away on landing like the winner. The third-prize winner only lost one point for jumping.

Ten ponies, 13.2 hands high, jumped 96 fences. The winner lost two points, the second-prize winner three points, and the third-prize winner four points.

In the "Mazda" Jumpers' Plate, 22 horses competed. They jumped 344 fences. The winner lost one point, the second-prize winner two points, and the third-prize winner three points. The jumping in this competition was very good.

Nine horses competed in the "Buckley and Nunn" Hunters' Plate. They jumped 116 fences. The winner gave a faultless exhibition of jumping, and won easily. The second-prize winner also jumped without touching a fence, but did not have the dashing style of the winner.

The "Victorian" Jumpers' Plate, for lady riders in pairs, brought out 8 horses. They jumped 50 fences. The winners and the second-prize winners only lost one point each in jumping. The winners won easily on class, age and conformation.

In the "Imperial" Jumpers' Plate, 20 horses competed. They jumped 270 fences. The three prize-winners gained the full number of points for jumping. The winner won easily on age and conformation.

Eight horses competed for the "Juvenile" Hunters' Plate. They jumped 128 fences. The winner went very nice and even between his fences, and only lost one point in jumping. The second-prize winner also only lost one point for jumping, but he was not so nice between his fences. The third-prize winner jumped cleanly, but landed very heavily.

In the "Australian" Jumpers' Plate, 9 horses competed. They jumped 144 fences. The winner jumped two very good rounds. The second-prize winner also jumped well, and the third-prize winner jumped cleanly, but was rather slow. The jumping in this contest was good.

In these contests 3303 fences were jumped. There were only nine falls, and not in any case were either rider or horse seriously injured. This, I think, is easily a record on any showground for the number of fences that were jumped.
