HORSES.

CLYDESDALE MALES.

J. J. McCarron, "Mayfield," Nathalia.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 25). Competition was keen throughout the section for Clydesdale Males, both in quality and numbers.

The first-prize winner in the class for stallion eight years old and over is a massive horse. He is well set on good pasterns, the best of feet, good action, but inclined to be plain about the head. I had no hesitation in awarding him the Championship.

The second-prize horse is of nice quality, inclined to be narrow at the hoof heads, and is faulty in action.

The third-prize horse is a good, big, useful type, but faulty in action, and very plain about the hind-quarters.

The winner in the class for stallion four to seven years old is a nice type of horse, well set on his pasterns, but the feet are inclined to be brittle, and he is somewhat faulty in action. I awarded this horse the Reserve Championship.

Champion Clydesdale Stallion, "Royal" Show, 1929.
"SCOTTISH BANKER" (imp.) [20647 C.S.B.] (921 C.C.S.B.).
Exhibited by Mr. G. L. Byrne.

The second horse is a useful type, with good feet and clean joints, but is very plain on top and light around the heart. The third-prize horse is a good type, with good feet and action, but is faulty about his hocks, due to over-feeding.

The winner in the class for colt three years old stood right out from the others. He is well set on good feet and pasterns, a good mover, and has plenty of size. The second-prize colt has good feet and pasterns and a good action, but is inclined to be slack in his back, and is not as well grown as the winner. The third-prize colt has good feet and pasterns, and is well grown. The first prize two-year-old colt is well grown, nicely set on his front feet, has nice flat bone and good quality hair, but is inclined to be somewhat straight on his hind pasterns, due to over-feeding. The second-prize colt is a good, useful horse, has good feet and pasterns, but is inclined to be plain. The third-prize colt has good feet and pasterns, but is not as well grown as the two placed above him.

An exceptionally strong class of yearling colts was paraded. The first-prize winner is well grown, has good feet and pasterns, good action, and should grow into a useful horse. The second colt is nicely set on good feet and pasterns. His action could be better behind, and he is very light in the barrel. The colt placed third is a nice type, but not as well grown as the first and second prize-winners.

CLYDESDALE FEMALES.

Frank Thornton, Waaia.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 26).

The Clydesdale females were of very good quality, and, I think, were quite big enough. It is not the big, plain mare that breeds the best class of horse, but the quality mare with good bone and feet, and well set on the ground. The brood mares, with the exception of the prize-winners, were not very outstanding. The winner was typical of the breed, and travels well. The second and third prize-winners were good, useful mares. The dry mares were very typical, particularly the first and second prize-takers, which were eventually awarded Champion and Reserve Champion respectively. The Champion is a beautifully balanced mare, full of quality and character, showing breeding and plenty of substance; moves well, with hocks placed perfectly together. She is one of the best specimens of the breed I have seen here. The second-prize mare is showing signs of age, but she has a beautiful hind leg and pastern joints, and uses them to perfection. This mare could have possibly been shown to better advantage. The winning three-year-old filly was big and well grown, possibly a little leggy, but she walks boldly and true. The second-prize filly was shown in nice bloom, and possesses a nice grain all through, good bone and hair and set well on the ground. I would like to see her with more open hoof heads, and she is showing the effects of too much feed. The third-prize filly is of good class. The two-year-old winner is a nice filly, showing style, good feet, set well on her joints, and uses them well.

The second-prize filly has a nice outlook, height and action, but is a little short on her joints. The third-prize winner is a good topped filly, with rather plain front legs. The first six one-year-old fillies were of beautiful quality. The winner stood well on the ground and had beautiful bone, hoofs and joints, and had the best spread hind hoofs I have seen. The second-prize filly was shown rather on the thin side. She possesses a lot of character and nice quality of hair. The third-prize filly also showed a lot of quality, but was not as good on the ground as the two placed above her.

The class for stallion and three of his progeny was disappointing. Two beautiful groups were shown in the class for three yearlings by the one The Commonwealth group brought out a wonderful winning team, entered by the Warracknabeal Agricultural Society. The Yarrawonga Society's group of useful horses was placed second. The district group, won by the Jeparit Agricultural Society, was a credit to the nominators. I selected "Dehlura Lady Grace" as the Grand Champion Clydesdale. I considered her more typical of the breed than the Champion Stallion, "Scottish Banker."

HACKNEYS AND HARNESS HORSES AND PONIES.

J. R. Henry, Elsternwick.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on pages 28 and 31).

The quality of the few hackney exhibits was not of a high standard, and I would recommend that, as hackneys have not proved popular in this country, the section be deleted from the Schedule.

Speaking generally, the harness horses were lacking in quality, this being attributable, no doubt, to the very formidable motor competition, which has discouraged breeders and made it difficult to secure good horses of this type.

The ponies were of a higher standard and provided good competition in several of the classes. I would like to suggest that, in lieu of the Hackney Classes, another event for qualified hunters be included.

COBS AND PONIES.

W. C. Beveridge, "The Myrtles," Warrnambool.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 29).

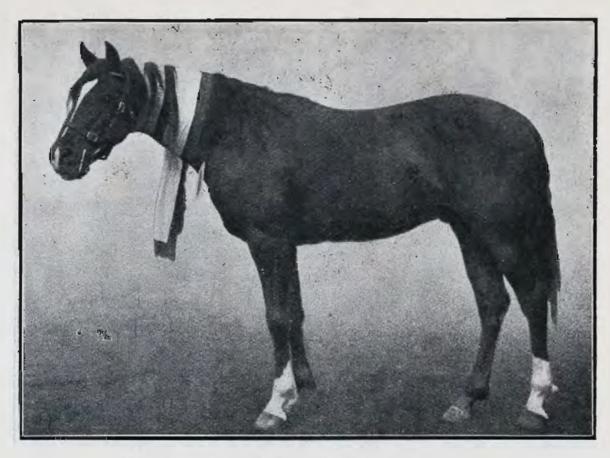

The cobs and ponies were of very good type. I regret that many of the classes were not better filled. The Shetlands were particularly fine, but I would like to see them a little bigger, for I have had complaints about the sires being on the small side.

SADDLE HORSES AND PONIES.

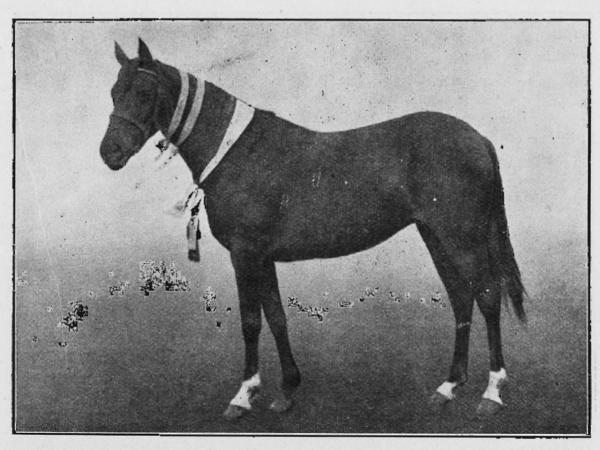

S. A. Greaves, Strathard, Narre Warren.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 30).

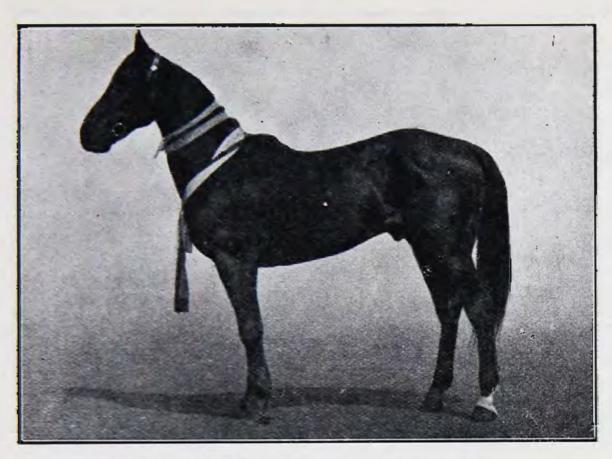

In my opinion the prize-winners were up to the standard of previous "Royal" winners. The entries of horses were not numerous, but the pony classes were better filled. The enthusiasm of the boys and girls is to be admired, and as they are our future show supporters, they are worthy of encouragement in these times of mechanical attractions.

HEREFORDS AND POLLED ANGUS.

J. Sparkes, Lyndley, Dalby, Queensland.

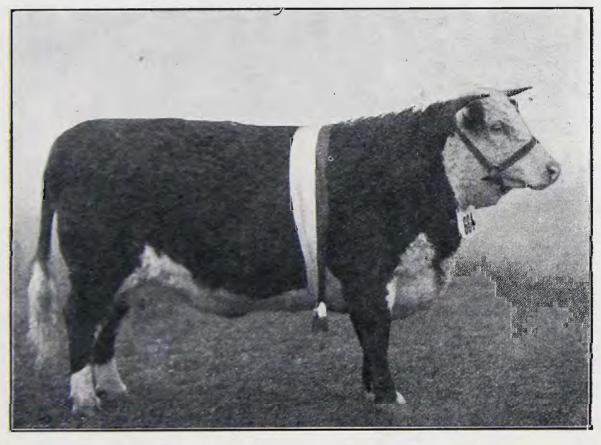

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on pages 34 and 35).

I was a little disappointed with the number of beef cattle exhibited, especially in the Hereford and Polled Angus sections. The quality was, however, in most cases excellent, and the exhibitors are deserving of great praise for the splendid types of the breed they paraded. The Polled Angus were really good, and the first-prize yearling heifer was a real top-notcher. The two imported bulls, although not in Show condition, were splendid specimens of the breed. I expect competition in this section to be much keener in the future.

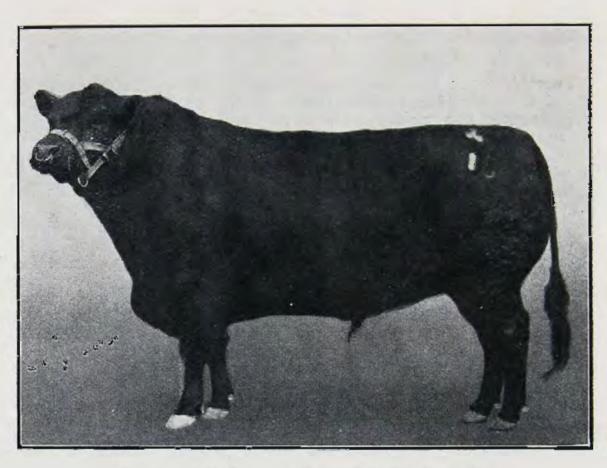

I would like to suggest that exhibitors teach their show cattle to stand properly, as it is unfair to bring a beast into the ring that will not stand to be handled.

RED POLLS.

P. E. Evans, Flowing Vale, Lima East.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 36).

The exhibits in this section, both in numbers and quality, provided a splendid display, and one which has not been equalled at Melbourne or, for that matter, at any show south of the line.

Considering that the number of exhibits was 100 per cent. ahead of that of any previous year, there was a striking absence of "tail" in all classes.

My only regret was that there was only one heifer shown in milk. This is a pity, in view of the dual-purpose nature of the breed. The heifer referred to was an outstanding animal, and was unfortunate in meeting the champion female in her particular class.

In view of the controversy amongst breeders in recent years, I am pleased to report an almost total absence of cloudy noses on the animals exhibited and of white patches on the bulls, whilst subsequent enquiry regarding a white mark on a cow in the four-year-old (in milk) class confirmed my opinion, formed when judging, that it was the result of an injury.

An entry of five aged bulls must be regarded as good. The first prize bull was an outstanding beast from all points of view, and I subsequently awarded him the Championship. The second was a nice-bodied bull, but with a plain head, whilst the third, although a good animal, lost points on the shoulder and on the fact that he was clipped, not having shed his winter coat.

Three three-year-olds paraded. The first was a lengthy, well-grown bull, that later secured the Reserve Championship. The second, though not up to the standard of the first, was a very good animal, whilst the third was a really good bull, with a white patch, which prevented him from winning a higher award.

There were five entries in the two-year-old class. The first and second prize animals provided very close competition, length of rump deciding the awards.

Bulls 18 months old made a good class, with seven entries. The first prize bull showed real quality, and was of splendid length. Competition was also keen in this class, the second bull running the winner very close. The third was another good animal.

The quality of the yearlings, in which class there were sixteen entries, warranted the issue of three commended cards. The winner was the best handler in the section, and is a youngster that should have a great future.

Four buil calves were entered, the first two being very even. The winner was of nice quality, and handled well.

The class for aged cows (in milk), in which there were six entries, produced some very fine animals of the dual-purpose breed. The winner was a particularly typical animal.

The three cows competing in the aged (dry) class were of two distinct types. I awarded first and second prizes to the most "milky" animals, the third being a heavy, beefy type.

As previously stated, I would have liked to have seen more of the heifers "in milk," but it would appear that exhibitors, in their keen desire to secure the blue ribbons, do not desire to prevent the exhibits from being in the very best of condition when they enter the judging ring.

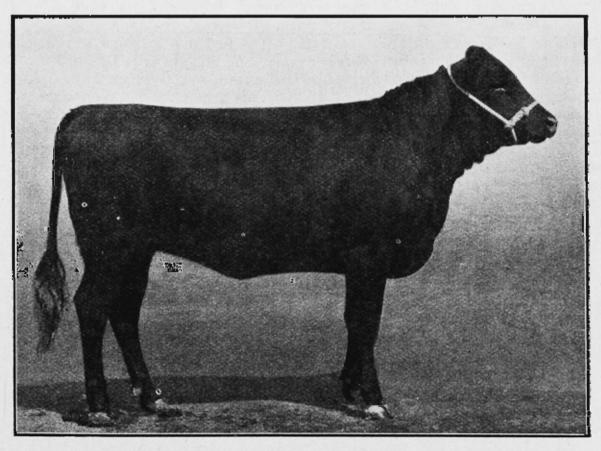

In the class for three-year-old heifers, there were four entries, and two fine specimens made the decisions very close. The winner in this class was later awarded the Reserve Championship.

The two-year-old heifers provided one of the best classes that came before me. Seven animals were entered, and their quality demanded two extra awards.

Champion Red Poll Bull, "Royal" Show, 1929. "WOODBURN STANDARD" (616 A.A.). Exhibited by Hon, T. II, Payne.

Champion Red Poll Cow, "Royal" Show, 1929. "WOODBURN LOT" (A.A., Vol. 5), Exhibited by Hon, T. H. Payne.

The finest Red Poll heifer I have ever seen paraded with three others in the eighteen-months-old class. I could not fault her, and though I have never previously awarded a Championship to so young an animal, I was compelled to do so on this occasion. Second prize in this class went to a very fine heifer, the only one shown "in milk," and she had a lovely vessel and teats for her age.

The yearlings, of which twelve were entered, made a very fine, even class, there being little between the awards, and the same can be said of the five heifers in the calf class. It augurs well for the future of the breed to see such promising young cattle exhibited.

I was particularly pleased to learn that seven different herds were represented in the eleven groups of three animals bred by exhibitor. Competition was keen, and only tended to justify me in my decision to defer judgment until after the bull classes had been through the ring.

The Stradbroke Cup award was also well contested, there being nine entries. Though the winning group stood out, there was much sterling quality in the other competing trios.

Two even quality two-year-old pure-bred steers were exhibited, and it is a great pity that they were subsequently disqualified from the Export Steer Carcase Competition, because one of them was 12 lb. over the stipulated live weight of 1400 lb.

The Type and Utility Classes provide another avenue for demonstrating the breed's dual-purpose qualities. Particular mention should be made of the first prize cow in the aged class. She was dual-purpose to the eye, and her capacity for production was shown in her official 273 days' record of 14,646 lb. milk and 540 lb. butter fat.

MILKING SHORTHORNS.

John Coish, Warrenbayne.

(Complete awards in this section will be found on page 37).

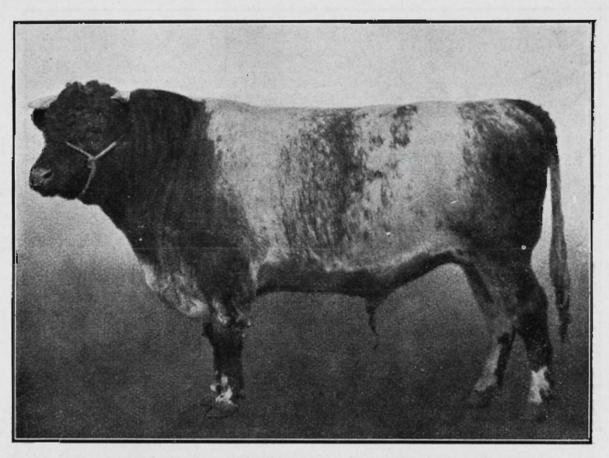

The Milking Shorthorns exhibited were very fine. The Champion Bull is a beautiful even animal, and, in my opinion, would be hard to beat anywhere. The Reserve Champion is a promising two-year-old sire. He handled well, and should be heard of to advantage later. The classes for females were well filled, and the Champion Cow was a splendid specimen of the breed; her general all-round quality placed her over the others. The Reserve Champion was also a very nice type of cow. All the females showed pronounced dairying qualities, combined with Shorthorn breeding, and I have never seen the exhibits in this section shown in better condition.

ILLAWARRA MILKING SHORTHORNS.

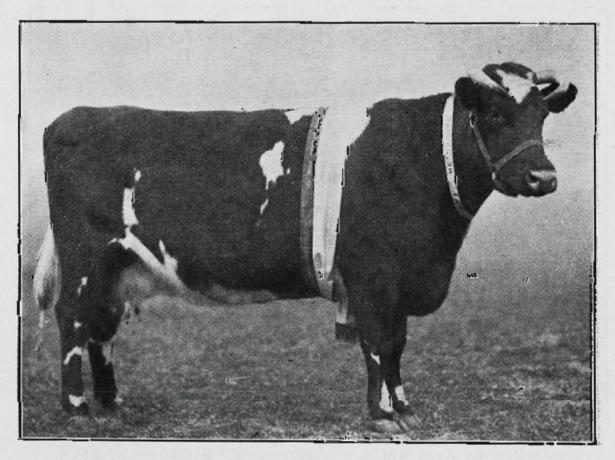

J. J. Hayter, Byron Bay, N.S.W.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 38).

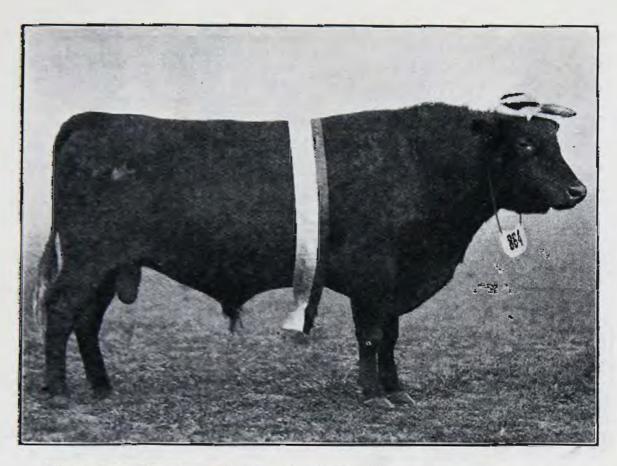

As this was the first time a section was included for Illawarras, a very creditable display of the breed was made. I feel sure that when Victorian dairymen know the breed better, there will be a splendid showing or these cattle at the Melbourne "Royal." There is a great future for these dairy animals, and I think it would be well to continue the section.

AYRSHIRES.

J. A. Bond, Melbourne-road, Dandenong.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 39).

I am pleased to report that I found the stock that came before Mr. Ralston and myself of a high standard, and it compared very favourably with exhibits of previous years, except some of the younger exhibits, which were a little lacking in constitution. This fault is always apparent in large sections. Competition was good in every class. The first-prize aged bull stood out on his own, and, in my opinion, would be difficult to beat in any part of the world. We later awarded this animal the Championship. There were some very fine aged cows exhibited, full of dairying qualities and of excellent constitution. The Champion and Reserve Champion cows were splendid specimens of the breed. Except in some of the younger heifer classes, the udder and teats could be much improved, but, of course, there were some that had well-shaped udders. The group classes were well filled, and in the ring the exhibits presented an imposing sight. The breeders deserve to be congratulated on the way the cattle were brought before us.

Champion Ayrshire Bull, "Royal" Show, 1929. "FLASHLIGHT OF GLENORE" (5344). Exhibited by Sir George Tallis.

AYRSHIRES.

D. Ralston, Violet Town.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 39).

The Ayrshires exhibited were a splendid lot. The Champion bull is an excellent specimen of the breed and a credit to the owner. The winners in the younger classes were all good Ayrshires. Competition was good in the female classes, and some splendid animals were paraded. The Champion and Reserve Champion cows were all that could be desired, and there was very little between them. The younger classes were well up to standard, and, on the whole, I think the cattle were equal to those exhibited in previous years. I would like breeders to pay more attention to the vessels and try to breed their cattle with good square vessels and good teats.

BANYULE JERSEY STUD, VICTORIA.

Bred on the same lines of blood for 25 years, continues to produce both SHOW and BUTTER-FAT CHAMPIONS.

In every State, Banyule stock has been successfully exhibited by owners of the following famous stud herds:—"Retford Park" (New South Wales), "Trinity" (Queensland), "Relbia" (Tasmania), "Dalebank" (South Australia), and "Garden Hill" (Western Australia).

Each year the Banyule stud is well represented at the Melbourne Royal Show, and in addition to the many first, second and third prizes received, its representatives have during the past ten years been awarded four Championship and eight Reserve Championship ribbons, and it has during the same period been awarded the Special Ribbon for the most successful exhibitor at the Melbourne Royal Show six times. As further proof of the present standard of the herd, both for type and production, attention is drawn to the fact that at the Melbourne Royal Shows of 1928 and 1929 Banyule heifers scored first and second places in the two-year-old class, and at the Royal Show, 1929, the three first yearling heifers were sired by Banyule bulls.

In addition, the females of this herd have amply demonstrated their quality as butter-fat producers. Since the inception of the Government Herd Testing Scheme, 17 years ago, the Banyule herd has always maintained a consistently high average, varying from 309 lbs. butter-fat the first year, up to 491 lbs. this year, with an average of 406 lbs. butter-fat (with allowances) for the seventeen years. Though the herd is one of the largest in the State, it has always been placed in a prominent position—on one occasion first, and never lower than ninth, among all breeds. In the Victorian Government Herd Test for the year ended June, 1929, five out of the first six Jerseys in the junior two-year-old class were sired by Banyule bulls, and there were 218 Jersey heifers qualified in this class. Mr. P. J. Maloney's champion herd for the last two years were nearly all sired by Banyule bulls, the exceptions being by sons of theirs.

JERSEYS.

G. Burton, Wanora, via Ipswich, Queensland.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 41).

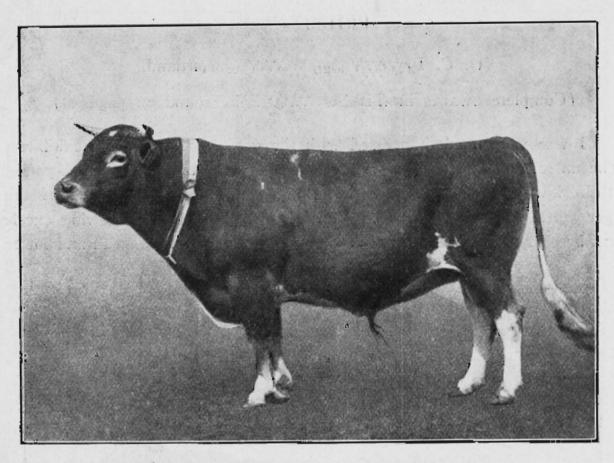

The Jersey men of Victoria have every reason to be proud of the splendid collection which was exhibited at this year's Royal Show. Although the type of Jersey at the Melbourne Show is not as uniform as you would see at the Brisbane Show, I understand there was a decided improvement on previous displays. The aged milk class brought forth 13 good cows; some were of the robust type, but I think all Queensland. Jersey fanciers would like "Dream Girl of Woodside." She is a sweet cow, of lovely type, with a beautiful vessel, and shows herself well, The first prize four-year-old cow was "Duchess Matilda of Glen Iris." She is a very neat cow, of nice type, with a very even vessel and good teat placement, but has not the refinement of "Dream Girl of Woodside." The winner of the aged dry class is a very attractive cow, with a good outline and great carriage. The remaining female classes were well filled, and the general type and quality were of a high standard. The exhibits in the two-year-old class ("dry") were very good, the first and second winners being very attractive heifers. The bulls were very good, and I consider the type, generally speaking, was excelleent. "Linda 55th's V.C. of King's Vale" won the first prize in the aged class. He is a bull of good type and character, has very good head and topline, and was splendidly shown. The runner-up in this class is also a very fine animal, but is not so stylish as the winner. There were not many entries in the three-year-old class, but some very good bulls were exhibited. The winner is very classy, has a good head, good outline, and is well developed. The second-prize winner is a very striking bull. He has plenty of character, and I will be very much surprised if he does not develop into a good show bull. Over twenty two-year-olds were paraded. The winner is very stylish, and was well shown. The yearling bulls numbered well over 30, and the quality was somewhat patchy, there being a decided tail.

GUERNSEYS.

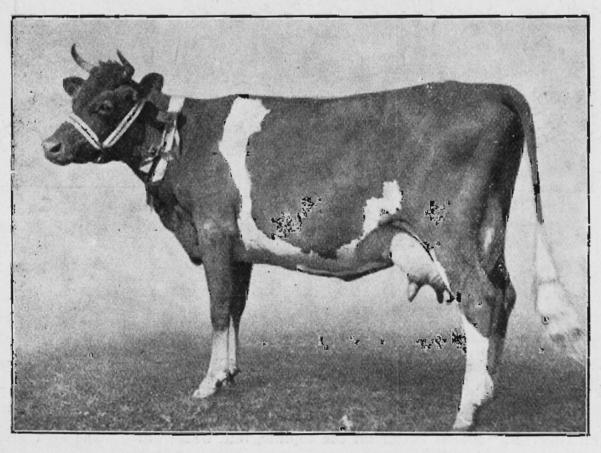

H. G. Knodler, "Eyrie Bower," Singleton, N.S.W.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 43).

On the whole, the exhibits were of very good type and in beautiful condition. The Champions would, in my opinion, hold their own anywhere in the Commonwealth. The Reserve Champion bull and cow were young animals, but I expect that, in the course of a year or two, they will be Champions. Some very fine specimens of the breed were exhibited in the aged classes. The young cattle were also of a very good type. I was very pleased with the keen interest taken by the young breeders, but would like to have seen more competition in all the classes.

I was very much impressed with the quality of the cattle exhibited. The uniformity of the exhibits was most pleasing and many of the young stock showed good promise and should attain the high standard of the aged cattle. The Champion bull is a most typical animal, showing excellent breed type. He is nicely balanced, and is better in the head and lower Champion cows are two very fine animals. I think if the latter had been in the same show condition as the Champion, the honours would have been reversed. She is better on the topline, but, being "dry," was at a disadvantage. I must compliment the exhibitors on the excellent condition of the animals placed before me.

TESTING COMPETITIONS.

A. J. Gill, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne; W. R. Jewell, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 45).

The following breeds were represented in these competitions, viz., Ayrshire, Jersey, Milking Shorthorn, Red Poll and Friesian. The health of the stock, with one exception, was good throughout.

The first prize in the "Weekly Times" Test was awarded to a Milking Shorthorn, "Fairy of Willow Park." The value of her produce was 21/3.239. The second prize was won by a Red Poll, "Victoria Reparation," earning 15/6.728, and the third prize by a Jersey, "Model of Ballara," with a yield worth 14/1.019.

In the "Captain Payne" Competition, eight cows competed, the first prize being also won by "Fairy of Willow Park," with a percentage of profit over feeding cost of 172.4. The second prize was secured by "Tiny Choice of Belgonia" (Jersey), with a profit percentage of 142.74, and the third prize by "Soprano 4th of Banyule" (Jersey), with 127.83 per cent. The weighing of the cows this year was more satisfactory than previously, and, with one or two alterations, should effectually check starvation methods. Only two cows gained weight—one cow being sick at the commencement, and not eating her food, and having a very liberal supply of fodder for the latter part of the period; the other cow had apparently not drank water for some time before weighing.

We would suggest that the following regulations be added to those governing the competition:—

- (a) That any cow being sick and refusing food be immediately disqualified.
- (b) That no owner be allowed to water his cow outside the cage water is supplied in the stalls.
- (c) That any owner found handling or mixing up food after or before the attendant has prepared it shall be immediately disqualified.
- (d) That the judges may immediately disqualify any competitor who delays commencing to milk when told to start.

We would also suggest that the hours and days of weighing be fixed by the Secretary and the Judges—not to be advertised in Prize Schedule—and that the stock be led out by attendants—not owners. We would also suggest that the cage be completely netted in, as the height of the fence this year offered very little protection.

LINCOLN RAMS.

H. Hermiston, Minto Park, Mansfield.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 47).

Most of the leading breeders of this State were represented, but the effects of the adverse season were to be seen in a majority of the exhibits. The aged rams were perhaps not as good as in former years. The first prize in this class was a beautifully shaped sheep of great carcase, with a bright, heavy, even fleece of ram's wool, which was carried well down to the points. This ram was awarded the Championship. The winning two-year-old ram was well covered, and carried a typical Lincoln fleece. There was very little between this ram and the Champion. The second and third prize rams were beautifully woolled, but were not in such good show condition as the winner. The class for pairs of two-year-old rams was perhaps the best, and much credit was due to the exhibitors of the first six pairs. The yearling rams were a little disappointing, but on the whole the prize-winners were well grown, with each carrying a tremendous growth of wool. They were not as good as the two-year-olds, but will probably improve considerably before the next Show. The exhibits in the class for pairs of yearling rams were better, and competition was keener. Speaking generally, the sheep were very good, probably the best lot of Lincolns for the number to be seen anywhere in the world, and certainly the best in Australia.

LINCOLN EWES.

Alexander Bowman, Cooraminta, Poowong.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 47).

The Lincoln ewe classes were not so well filled as previously, but the general quality was very good. In the ewe with lamb class the winner was splendidly woolled, as was also the second-prize ewe. In the class for ewe over $2\frac{1}{2}$ years, some splendid carcase sheep were shown, and the majority of the exhibits also carried good fleeces. The winner in this class was awarded the Championship. The winner in the under- $2\frac{1}{2}$ -year-old class was a little small in frame, but was a beautifully woolled ewe, showing splendid serations and lustre, and had a true Lincoln fleece. This ewe received the Reserve Champion award. The young sheep were well grown, and made a really good display.

ENGLISH LEICESTERS.

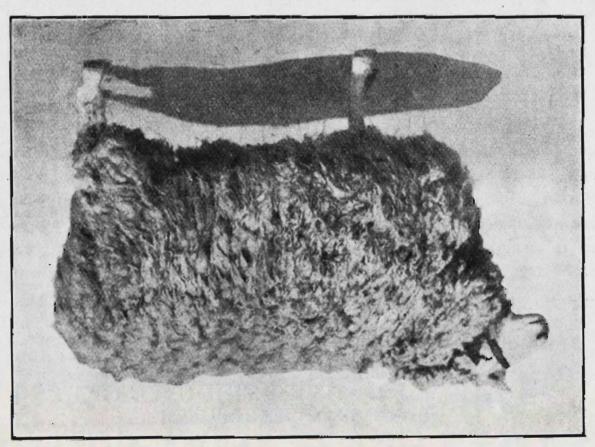

J. T. Woods, Perringrove, St. James.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 47).

There were four rams and three ewes that were very good, but nearly all the others were either too small or out of shape.

If breeders exchanged their best or second-best rams, an improvement would quickly be brought about. Breeders should work together, with a view to improving their flocks.

BORDER LEICESTER RAMS.

G. Tomlinson, Redlands, Willowmavin.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 48).

The Border Leicester rams were indeed a credit to their breeders, who may well feel proud of having penned such a number of magnificent sheep. Every class contained many of the very finest specimens of the breed yet seen at our Royal Show. The greatest improvement has been effected in this breed in Victoria during the past fifteen years than in any other British breed of sheep. The majority of the rams were symmetrical, thick, even-fleshed sheep, showing plenty of early-maturing qualities and fattening character, and were well covered with high-class, lustrous wool. I would suggest that breeders refrain from attempting to make the sheep bigger, for they will then have a tendency to get too high on the leg. The sheep are now quite big enough. I awarded a record number of prizes, but the sheep were all worthy of them. Many very fine young sheep just missed being placed through want of a little more condition, no doubt, due to the adverse season.

BORDER LEICESTER EWES.

A. W. Austin, Midgeon, Narandera, N.S.W.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 49).

The Border Leicester ewes were, in my opinion, the best lot of sheep I have seen at any show in this country. I have missed an odd Royal Show in the last twenty years, but I much doubt if better females were ever exhibited. There were so many good young sheep that I found the judging very difficult. These sheep now carry a much greater quantity of wool than was the case ten years ago, and it is better and more even in quality. Whether or not, it is an advantage to have a larger quantity of wool is open to question, but that, of course, rests with breeders. Border Leicesters are, firstly, mutton sheep for breeding fat lambs, and too much wool will deteriorate the carcase.

Champion Border Leicester Ewe, "Royal" Show, 1929, "KARTIGI No. A52." Exhibited by Mr. II. Hodge.

ROMNEY MARSH.

D. A. White, Willeroo, Tarago, N.S.W.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 49).

Not having judged at Melbourne for several years, I was very plesaed to note the great improvement in this section.

There were only two exhibitors, but they had strong teams, and competition was very keen. All the exhibits were of good size and constitution, and were true to type.

DORSET HORNS.

F. W. Bedwell, 422 Collins-street, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 50).

There was a great increase in the numbers and quality of the Dorset Horns exhibited, and it is years since there has been such keen competition and such a fine exhibition of first-class sheep.

The Champion ram (a two-tooth) stood out as a solid, good-fleshed sheep and a splendid specimen of the breed. The Champion ewe (a five-year-old) was brought out in wonderful condition, and reflects great credit on her owner. The Reserve Champion ewe (a two-tooth) was very close to the Champion.

I would like to suggest that another class be included in the Dorset Horn Section, and that all ewes over 1½ years be required to have their lambs at foot.

SHROPSHIRES.

Thomas J. Burbury, "Park Farm," Jericho, Tasmania. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 51).

As a whole the Shropshires were not as good as exhibits in recent years. Whilst there were some very fine sheep in several of the classes and a number well shown, there were weak sheep here and there, and others not in show condition. I noticed an attempt by some breeders to produce sheep with more open faces, free from wool below the eyes. Whilst this is a step in the right direction, very great care will need to be exercised so as not to sacrifice valuable points which have been obtained after years of careful breeding and selection. In some of the open-faced exhibits, black fibres showed in the wool over the head and on the points, a tendency to dark skins, the head and neck not as masculine as is desirable, and less development in the fore-quarters generally. The Champion ram was a fine type, with excellent flesh and covering. The first-prize ram over $1\frac{1}{2}$ years and under $2\frac{1}{2}$ years, was a useful ram, as was also the first-prize ram under $1\frac{1}{2}$ years. The winning pair of rams under $1\frac{1}{2}$ years were a well-matched, breedy pair. The shorn rams were not good specimens. The winners in the breeding ewe classes were very good, indeed, and the Champion ewe was particularly good, and would be hard to beat in any company.

SOUTHDOWNS.

A. H. Blake, 35 Milton-street, St. Kilda.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 52).

There is a marked improvement in the evenness of type since I last judged the Southdowns. Classes were small, but the standard high. The Champion ram was a fine sheep, well and evenly fleshed, symmetrical, well let down fore and aft, legs well placed, and wool typical. The Champion ewe was true to type. There was an inclination to roughness of the thighs, with some otherwise good sheep. This is a serious fault, especially with Southdowns, and breeders should endeavour to eliminate it.

RYELANDS.

D. Porter, 128 Park-street, Moonee Ponds.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 52).

The competition, both in numbers and quality, was keener than at any previous Show. I think they were also of a better type. There were some outstanding sheep, and with a few exceptions were all very well brought out. I feel convinced that if crossed with the right class of ewe, these sheep will produce good export lambs.

CORRIEDALES.

A. F. J. Hateley, "Kelvin," Murtoa.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 53).

It was pleasing to see a large increase in the entries in this section, and the keen interest displayed by a large number of onlookers during the judging makes it evident that this breed is becoming more popular each year. The competition throughout was good, particularly in the young sheep classes. This proves that breeders are improving their flocks. I would suggest that some breeders pay more attention to wool covering underneath and on the points. A sheep with bare points and deficient belly wool generally carries a light fleece on top. The Corriedale is a dual-purpose sheep, and size and denseness of wool must always be taken into consideration. Button horns were, unfortunately, found in one class for rams. Breeders are to be commended for exhibiting their sheep in good show condition, but the use of too much oil and other mixtures on the wool should be discouraged.

POLWARTHS.

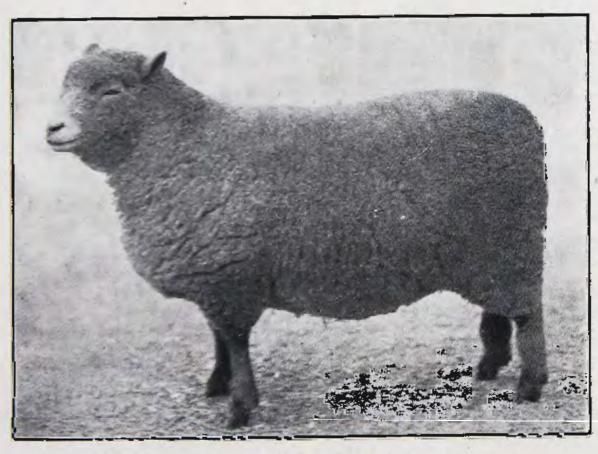

R. A. D. Hood, Merrang, Hexham.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on pafe 54).

Although small in numbers, the exhibits were of good style and frame, and were well covered with a good, even class of wool. As this is a comparatively new breed, there is still some difference of opinion as to the finer or stronger grades, but, in my opinion, the sheep exhibited were a true type of the breed, and of high quality.

FLEECES.

H. Denison, c/o. Australian Mercantile, Land and Finance Co. Ltd., 122 William-street, Melbourne; E. Norwood, c/o. Dalgety and Co. Ltd., Bourke-street, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 55).

Taking into consideration the adverse pastoral conditions ruling during the greater proportion of the time of growth, the fleece exhibit at the recent Show was very good.

Although the staple was not quite so bulky, or full-handling, as last season—which was an exceptional one as regards abundance of feed—the fleeces were generally in lighter condition and of somewhat finer quality, while the colour and character were quite up to the usual standard, and, with new exceptions, very good.

We are inclined to think the Merino exhibit is becoming confined to too small a circle. Practically the same breeders compete each year, and while the fleeces they forward for exhibition are exceptionally good regarding body, style, character, and payable return, we would prefer to see more competitors.

The exhibit of British breeds was most attractive, the wool being lustrous, well grown, and very even in type and quality. Corriedales and Polwarths were a most representative collection of fleeces, and we consider as a whole that it was the best all-round exhibit of wool from these breeds yet exhibited, the more even type, regular and well-defined crimp, together with a full handling staple, being their chief attraction.

We would again emphasise the necessity of exhibitors securely tying a label to each fleece, giving the number of the exhibit, and using a layer of paper to keep the fleece from sticking together when rolled. It is greatly in the interests of exhibitors to follow this practice, as fleeces rolled with paper in between do not become torn to anything like the same extent as those rolled without paper, and the less the fleece is torn during unrolling and skirting, the more attractive its appearance when finally set up.

SWINE.

BERKSHIRES.

J. A. Worner, "Renrow Park," Tennyson.

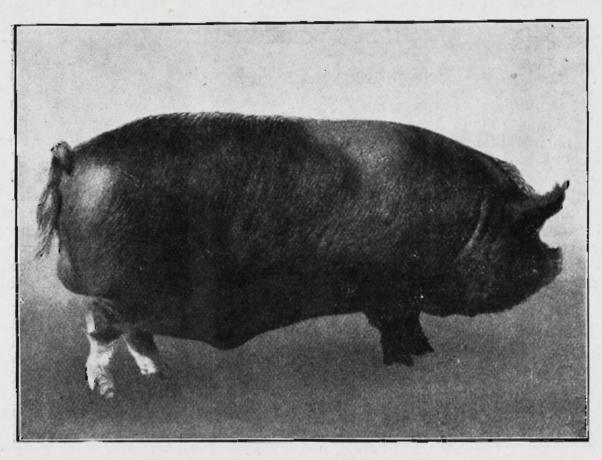

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 56).

The entry of Berkshires, although smaller than in previous years, is still much greater than any other breed in the swine section.

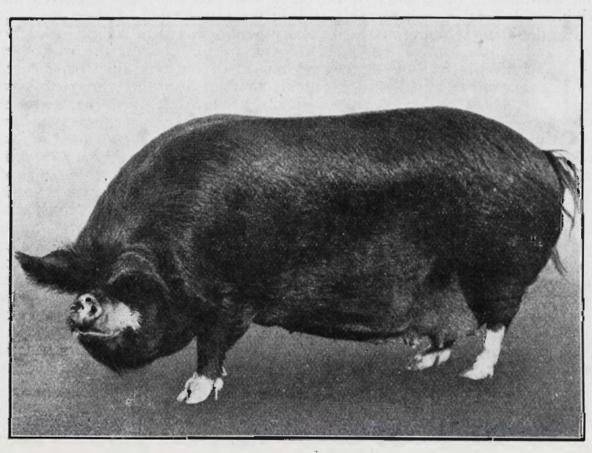

The quality as a whole was not up to the standard reached and maintained prior to the break caused by swine fever.

In boars over 15 months, some good animals were penned, including the Champion and Reserve Champion. The Champion was of good type, lengthy and even, and moved well. His appearance was marred by loss of hair caused by heating in preparation. The Reserve Champion was not so good on his feet, and dropped too quickly above the tail. The boars under 15 months were disappointing, and not up to previous standards, although there were some promising youngsters in the under four months' class. The sows, taken as a whole, were better than the boars. The aged class produced the Champion—a good, lengthy, even sow of good type, but showing signs of wear and age. The second sow was also a good one, but was too black in the face. The class for sows under 15 months and over nine was good. A number of exhibits were shown in excellent condition, with not much margin between the three placed animals. Reserve Champion was selected from this class, and was a good, all-round sow, in perfect bloom. The younger classes produced some promising sows. The winner in the under nine months' class was not in Show condition, but is a sow that will be heard of in the future. There were only four entries in the sow and litter class, but they were a fair lot. The first prize went to a good sow and litter of nine. The second was also a good combination.

The class for a group consisting of one boar and two sows, was difficult to judge, for they can be judged from two distinct points of view—one as a group which requires uniformity and balance, and the other as a mating proposition. I judged them as a group. If judged from a mating point of view, a moderate boar and two good sows may easily win, and a really good boar and two moderate sows be placed second, and this would then confuse the public, by reason of the fact that the prize cards are placed in the pens occupied by the boars.

MIDDLE YORKSHIRES.

E. C. Jenkins, Duncan's-road, Werribee South.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 56).

The Middle Yorkshire classes were not nearly so well filled as at previous shows prior to the outbreak of swine fever. However, the quality generally was good. The most disappointing feature was the number of exhibits that had teats with turned-in nipples. This was particularly noticeable with the younger exhibits. Some exhibits had also black or blue spots, and, in two cases, I awarded second prizes where firsts would have certainly been won had the spots not been in evidence. A few exhibits were decided throw-backs to the small Yorkshire breed. The white eye was also to be found in some of the young stock. In the sow and litter class, the first prize exhibit was excellent.

LARGE YORKSHIRES AND BRITISH LARGE BLACKS.

E. J. Shelton, H.D.A., Senior Instructor in Pig Raising, Department of Agriculture and Stock, Brisbane.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on pages 57 and 58).

The entries in the classes for Large Whites were particularly good, and, throughout, the quality of the stock was excellent, and indicated that exhibitors had taken considerable care in the preparation of their stock.

It is doubtful if there has been at any previous Australian Show such a large and representative exhibit. In most of the classes, the stock was both exceptionally well developed and typical of the type they represented.

The accommodation was excellent, though many of the pens were too cramped for the very large animals penned. It is to be regretted that up to the date of this year's Show, no definite move appears to have been made by breeders to get together, with a view to determining among themselves the most suitable type of Large White for Victorian and Australian conditions, the result being that there were at least three distinct types of the breed penned, each characteristic and quite representative of its own particular type, yet sufficiently distinct to warrant being considered either of the English, Scottish, or New Zealand (ex Canadian) strains. Some authorities favour the very leggy types, but, in my experience, they are quite unsuitable for markets calling for a light to medium bacon pig. not exceeding 145 pounds dressed weight. I endeavoured to indicate by my decisions the type of Large White most closely conforming to what might strictly be called the British type, as advocated and illustrated by the National Pig Breeders' Association of England.

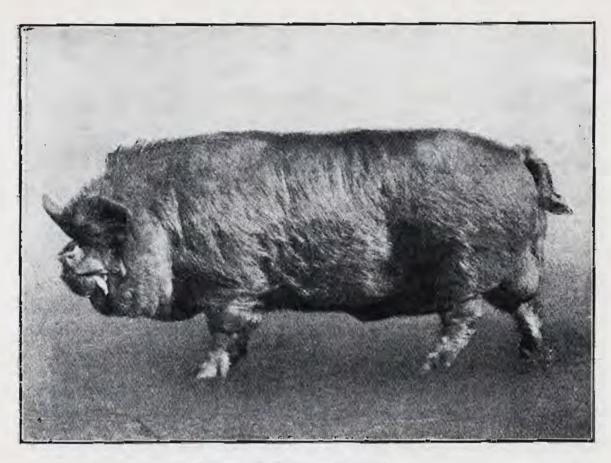

Though there was but a very limited number of Large Blacks penned, the stock were of good quality, and were either directly imported or the progeny of imported parentage of British stock.

The Champion boar and sow were recently imported from Great Britain, and had not recovered from the trip. They were very sparse in the coat, but were of the very best strains available abroad, and should be of considerable value in building up this old world breed.

The exhibitors of the imported stock are to be congratulated on showing their exhibits in such excellent condition.

TAMWORTHS.

H. J. Keevers, "Glenburra," Binna Burra, Richmond River, N.S.W.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 59).

The Tamworth pigs, particularly the boars, were very fine, but there were some faulty ones in the aged classes. The exhibits in the six-months-old class were good. The Champion boar was an ideal pig, showing good length, deep sides and good legs, free action and typical colour.

On the whole, the sows were particularly fine, but two were over fat. The first prize sow in the class for sow over 15 months old or over was good. I awarded this pig the Championship. The sow that was placed second was of a better type, and had it not shown prominent black spots, would have secured the Champion award. The first-prize sow in the class for sow under 15 months and over nine months is of beautiful type, with good, wide back, strong loins, excellent hams, good underline, and free from black hairs and spots. She secured the Reserve Champion award. She is a little light in colour, but I strongly recommend this type of sow to breeders. The young pigs, with few exceptions, were very good.

CURED CARCASE COMPETITIONS.

J. T. Stuart, Shepparton, Victoria.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 60).

Considering that it was the first occasion on which a class for cured carcases was included in the Schedule, a very fair type of pig was exhibited, but the majority was rather fat for ordinary trade purposes. The prize was given for the most suitable bacon for the trade, and the winner was a nice class of pig, showing plenty of lean streak.

I would suggest that next year this class be divided into two—one

I would suggest that next year this class be divided into two—one for light and one for heavy—or preferably three, classes, to include medium bacon. Under the present arrangement, it is difficult to judge the exhibits, for all three types are in the one class.

BACON AND PORK PIG CARCASE COMPETITIONS.

P. H. Dolan, 3 Lorne-street, Moonee Ponds (Live Judge).

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 60).

The bacon pigs exhibited, particularly the first, second and third prize carcases, were quite up to the usual standard as regards the fatness and length of middle, but they were a little deficient in the shape and size of ham. The average curer requires plenty of middle and ham, very little shoulder, and a light-boned pig. A comparison of prices of the different portions will convince breeders of the necessity of producing the right type of pig. The pig that secured first prize in the Pork Carcase Class is what I term an ideal, being of the right weight and nicely shaped. Pork pigs should not be too heavy. Their average dressed weights should be between 60 and 80 lbs. The second and third prize-winning carcases were also very nice, but the rest were either too fat or too heavy. I would like to suggest that in future competitions of this sort two pigs be entered—one to be slaughtered, and the other to remain as a live exhibit during the duration of the Show.

BACON AND PORK PIG CARCASE COMPETITIONS.

W. Nancarrow, Dandenong (Carcase Judge).

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 60).

I found the pigs of good quality, but in both classes it was very difficult to demonstrate the best pig for the bacon trade.

The porkers exhibited were too heavy for the trade, and I strongly recommend that the dressed weight next year be between 60 and 70 lbs. certainly no more than 75 lbs.—and not less than 50 lbs. This would give a range of from 50 to 75 lbs., and it would be easier to demonstrate what is required for the butcher's trade. I also found that the bacon carcases varied in weight. The bacon trade requires sides weighing from 40 to 50 lbs. cured. These are the weights most desired for sides and middles. It is difficult to demonstrate to the pig-raisers the best class of side required. The prize this year was awarded to a Large Yorkshire. The reason why the Berkshires were not placed was because they were kept too long, and made too fat for the trade. If the Show had been three weeks earlier, it is quite possible that the judging would have been reversed, or if the Show had been three weeks later, another breed may have been more acceptable to the trade.

When judging, I endeavoured to select the side of bacon most desired by the distributor in this section. I would like to suggest that the Society consider the inclusion of a class for a first cross carcase, that is to say, a first cross between a Yorkshire boar and a Berkshire sow, or any other breeds that might be agreed upon. I would stipulate that it must be a first cross, so that the Judge would know what he was doing, and would then be able to recommend something. I am very hopeful that this class will be retained, so that in the course of time it will be possible to demonstrate to the pig farmer the best type of pig for the trade, and also the one that will work out the most profitable from their point of view.

POULTRY.

LEGHORNS, SPANISH, ANDALUSIANS AND MINORCAS.

I. W. Sidebottom, Toora.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 62).

The quality of the exhibits of the Spanish variety was only fair, and the condition poor. The classes were not as good as have been seen at Shows a few years ago. The Andalusians were of good quality, and the birds were well shown. A few exhibits were too dark in colour. The Minorcas were well shown, and the quality of the females particularly good. The display as a whole was probably the best seen for years. The classes for White Leghorns were well filled, but the general quality was only fair. There were a few outstanding birds in each class. The Brown Leghorn classes were well filled, and the birds generally, shown to advantage. The quality of the exhibits was not as good as at the 1927 Show, males being irregular in colour and several were too dark. The Black Leghorn breed is improving in quality, the type being more uniform than at previous Shows. The exhibits in the classes for Farmers' Trios made a very good show, the birds being of better quality and more uniform than is usually the case in trio classes.

PIGEONS.

FANCY PIGEONS—PART 3.

George Heath, 14 Railway Road, Carnegie.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 69).

The exhibition of pigeons was splendid and the conditions under which they were shown were ideal. The Jacobins were particularly fine and the winner in the young bird class was considered the best young bird in the Fancy Breeds sections. The Fantails, especially the whites, were very classy. The Brunner Pouters were a great attraction. It was the first time this variety was exhibited, and the two winning whites were splendid specimens. Gimples were also shown for the first time, and they were greatly admired. Orientals, English Owls, Turbits and Blondinettes were not numerous, but the exhibits were birds of class.

FARM PRODUCE.

OATS AND PEAS.

E. C. Robertson, 70 King Street, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 83).

Algerian oats were very well represented, and competition was keen. Although there was a great improvement on previous years, it could still be better. There were only three entries in the class for Algerian oats grown by a Returned Soldier, and as this class carries a special prize of £5, it is worthy of better support. The exhibits certainly were good. Possibly if the Returned Soldiers' Association's attention was drawn to this class it might lead to more exhibits. The class for brown oats (other than Algerian) was fairly well represented, but there is still room for improvement. I think the two classes for white oats could very well be restricted to one under the heading, "White Oats—any variety." White oats of any sort are not widely grown in Victoria. Entries for peas were very poor; no doubt this was attributable to the bad season.

BARLEY.

W. Barrett, 1 Queen Street, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 83).

The Chevalier barley was nice, even, large-sized grain, well harvested, but inclined to be on the hard size. There was not much difference between the quality of the first and second prize exhibits, but the winning entry was just a shade mellower in appearance. As the exhibits of English barley were not prime quality, I did not award a championship. The first and second prize Cape barleys were outstanding. The first prize exhibit was an ordinary Cape variety, a prime sample well harvested and very pleasing in appearance, and the grain was large and mellow. The second prize was of the Oregon type, but the grain was less mellow and harder in appearance than the winning sample. The third prize exhibit was well below the standard of the entry that was awarded second prize.

MAIZE.

H. James, Orbost.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 83).

The number of exhibits was small, but the quality was satisfactory on the whole. The yellow and white Dent varieties were of outstanding quality. The Flint and Sweet Corn varieties were good, and Hickory King exhibits fair. It is to be regretted that the number of entries was so small, and it is hoped that in future more maize growers will exhibit.

FARM PRODUCE (except Cereals, Hay, Chaff, Sugar Beet, Potatoes and Onions.)

Temple A. J. Smith, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 84).

On the whole the exhibits were good and up to the usual standard. It was noted, however, that in the collections of seeds and beans, the same, or partly the same exhibit, has been shown year after year. I consider that in these classes the seeds should not be more than one year old. In several classes, notably those for mangels and turnips, the existing regulation that no exhibitor may take more than one prize in any one class with the same variety of produce leads to confusion in the minds of the spectators, for under this rule a third-rate exhibit may be awarded a second prize. Limiting the number of entries would reduce the number of exhibits, which is not desirable, and in my opinion there should be no limit to the number of prizes any one exhibitor may take.

POTATOES.

J. T. Ramsay, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne. (Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 84).

The number of exhibits was slightly smaller than in the previous year, but the quality was excellent right throughout, and competitors realise that nothing but the highest grade has a possibility of winning. The staging was much improved on previous years, due principally to the fact that some of the exhibits in this section were placed in the centre of the pavilion, where they were seen to much better advantage. On the whole the potato section is evidently having the desired effect of causing growers to pay more attention to correctness of type, correct naming and good grading. Much interest was taken in the models of correct types of commercially grown varieties which the Society placed on exhibition for instructional purposes for the first time. Many growers obtained from these a practical demonstration of the ideal type of varieties which they have been growing for years.

A stipulation governing the judging of the exhibits is that no exhibitor can take more than one prize in any one class with the same variety of produce. I would suggest that this regulation be reconsidered. If an exhibitor cannot take more than one prize in any one class, there is no incentive for him to put more than one entry in each class. This may have the effect of curtailing the total number of entries, and it certainly makes it possible that an obviously better exhibit than those which filled second and third places in any one class would be disqualified.

The Society is to be congratulated on the assistance given, by means of these competitions, to the potato industry of Victoria. That this assistance is appreciated by growers is evidenced by the amount of competition for the prizes.

TABLE VEGETABLES.

Thomas Marriott, Shrewsbury, 9 Paddington Road, Oakleigh.

I was pleased to note the increased number of exhibitors. It was the finest collection of vegetables that I have ever judged, and exhibits are coming from many who have not previously shown. This is very satisfactory, as it proves that producers are taking more interest in the Show. I have no hesitation in saying that the exhibit of vegetables at the Melbourne "Royal" is now the best in the State.

DISTRICT COMPETITIONS AND ONE FARM COLLEC-TIONS.

(a) CEREALS, GRASSES, OTHER GRAINS AND SEEDS, FLOUR, MEALS, HAY, CHAFF AND SILAGE.

A. C. Drevermann, Agricultural College, Dookie.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 85).

I was particularly struck with the all-round improvement in the exhibits. All the exhibitors had taken notice of the suggestions I made in the previous year, and received more points than formerly. I again spent some time with the officers in charge of the exhibits, and discussed various matters which will assist in future improvement. In some cases the exhibits were rather crowded, and if it were possible to arrange for more space, these could be shown to greater advantage.

(b) DAIRY PRODUCE AND FOODS.

G. H. Deeley, Elliott Avenue, Murrumbeena.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 85).

I was pleased to see that the quality of the butter had improved. It is now at a high standard. Care must be taken in some districts to keep the colour down. I was very sorry to see that Swan Hill and Wangaratta did not compete with cheese. The other three exhibits scored well. In most districts the bacon and ham exhibits need attention. In one district the bacon exhibited was bruised and badly cured, and the smoking and finish was poor. The exhibits of milk and cream were good, but the samples of eggs from two districts were disappointing. The small goods and preserved meats have improved very much, whilst the home-made cakes and confectionery were also good.

(c) FRUITS, VEGETABLES, ROOTS, ETC.

G. E. Mock, East Burwood.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 85).

The fruit exhibited in the Whittlesea and Wangaratta displays was in splendid condition, uniform, and of typical colour. The fruit in some of the other exhibits had lost its freshness and was not typical. Fruit should be placed in cool store immediately after picking. Mistakes were made in naming some of the varieties. The vegetables generally, were good, but a big mistake is often made by exhibiting together some good and very poor specimens of the same variety. I think the points for vegetables should be reduced. very good cauliflowers were exhibited, but others were past their prime. Carrots and parsnips exhibited by Warrnambool were excellent. Herbs were displayed by some exhibitors, but in most cases they were not shown to advantage. Pumpkins were very fine, but in many cases wrongly named. French beans and peas in the Sale exhibit were perfect. Exhibits from long distances are at a big disadvantage, especially when competing with green vegetables. The potatoes exhibited by Whittlesea were in perfect condition. exhibits had the full quota of twenty varieties, but they had lost their freshness and would have been in better condition if they had been pitted. The roots were very good, and some fine mangels were shown by both Whittlesea and Warrnambool.

(g) WOODS.

L. T. Strahan, c/o Forests Commission of Victoria, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 85).

A good variety of woods was exhibited, a desirable feature being the greater attention given to important commercial native woods rather than to non-commercial exotic woods. Important commercial woods were omitted by some exhibitors.

There was a marked improvement this year in nomenclature and The spelling and naming generally were correct, and the printing of tickets for each species gave the displays a greater educational value. Exhibitors, however, should remember that the common names of many species vary in different parts of the State, and that such terms as "Stringybark" would cover ten species, some of which are economically most important and some quite useless. The tickets, therefore, should show the true common name and the botanical name and indicate the chief commercial uses of the species.

Taking into consideration the limited space, the arrangement of the woods exhibit in one instance was particularly effective, but generally the arrangement could be improved upon. The construction of a special stand to hold the wood specimens would have helped in most cases.

(h) EFFECTIVE ARRANGEMENT.

N. Neilson, 9 Curral Road, Elsternwick.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 85).

I think there was a general improvement in the arrangement of the displays, and the standard is getting higher each year.

The Sale exhibit was a very fine effort. The balance, general finish and detail were exceptionally good. The tickets were well written, and the colour was in harmony with the general effect. lighting was not as good as it might be, as the shadows rather hindered than helped the display. This exhibit received 50 points. The Wangaratta exhibit, although at a small disadvantage in not having enough depth, did very well. It received 46 points. The balance and colour were good. The display had a tendency to droop at the ends and to be a trifle flat. The tickets were good and in harmony. The general finish was also good.

A very fine display was made by Whittlesea. It was very nicely worked out, and a lot of work displayed around the front of the stand, which, I think, could have been relieved a little to advantage, with a few large tickets to give it life. The general finish was very good and the tickets well written, but the colour did not show to advantage. The individual stands were good and very compact. This exhibit received 46 points.

The Warrnambool exhibit was also very good. The balance was splendid, but rather flat to the wall. The tickets were good, but hardly bold enough. They were in harmony with the general show and the whole effect was good. This exhibit made more of a break away from their previous displays than any other, and received 43 points.

from their previous displays than any other, and received 43 points.

A good display of wools shown to advantage in relief (black and white) was made by Swan Hill. The balance was good. The tickets were rather weak and had hardly enough colour. The general layout was good, but rather flat. Drought conditions in this district, of course, had their effect on the display, but on the whole it was a very creditable effort, and received 37 points. Considering that the arrangements of the displays are not done by professional window dressers, I think that as a whole they were all exceptionally good.

SCHOOL COMPETITIONS.

- (b) FORESTRY, FRUIT, FODDER CROPS AND GRAIN.
- H. W. Jessep, School of Primary Agriculture and Horticulture, Burnley.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 86).

The general standard of the exhibits was very satisfactory, and the staging effectively carried out.

In the classes for Forestry there was a general improvement shown in the method of potting up plants and there were no cases in which the plants had been put into pots a week or so before the Show. They were all well established in the pots. There was only one entry in the class for collection of fruits, and although the fresh fruit was rather below standard, the exhibits in the dried fruit classes were very good indeed. A good deal of improvement was shown in the quality of the fodder crops, there being an absence of the very coarse material that was noticed when judging last year. The most noticeable error this year was the exhibition of wheat in too ripe a stage for use as satisfactory fodder.

The entries of wheat were very limited, but the quality was satisfactory. The oat section was well represented, but, similarly to last year, exhibitors do not appear to take the same trouble to obtain good, clean samples as they do in all the other grain classes.

A very pronounced advantage was noted in that the bean section was segregated into three distinct classes, and each class was represented by some very good exhibits.

I suggest that the class for peas could, with advantage, be made into two, viz., field varieties and garden varieties, for under this classification they are best known in the trade.

(c) FORAGE AND ROOTS, GRASSES, CLOVER, HONEY, AND MISCELLANEOUS.

W. F. Friday, Agricultural High School, Sale.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 86).

Owing to the poor rainfall in many parts of the State, the number of entries was fewer than in former years. Except in a few cases the exhibits showed a deterioration in quality. Some very fine specimens

DAIRY PRODUCE.

CHEESE.

G. C. Sawers, Department of Agriculture, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 88).

In all the Cheese Classes, the entries were much smaller than usual, this being due to many of the factories with dual plants ceasing operations during the autumn months, and making butter only.

In the class for cheese over 6 months old, the first prize secured 94 points, the flavour and aroma being very clean, body firm, with close and meaty texture. The second exhibit was awarded 93 points, and the third 92 points. Whilst the flavours of these exhibits were clean, they were not of such a high character as those shown by the winner.

In the class for cheese under 4 months old, the successful exhibit obtained 94 points. The cheese possessed a clean flavour, good body, and close, meaty texture; 93 points were awarded to the second exhibit, and 92 points to the third entry. In the class for cheese suitable for exporting overseas, all of the cheese was made from pasteurised milk. The first and Champion prize exhibit scored 95 points, and the second and third cheese 94 and 93½ points respectively.

In my opinion the first award deserves the highest credit for the manufacture and finish of the product, the cheese being of excellent quality, very clean, of good body, and close, meaty texture, with a perfect, neat and attractive finish. The exhibits as a whole were quite up to the high standard of previous Royal Shows.

BUTTER.

P. J. Carroll, Department of Markets and Transport, Melbourne, C.1.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 88).

The exhibits were not so numerous as one would expect in a State in which dairying is, perhaps, one of the most important primary industries. Unfortunately the time of the year does not favour Victorian makers, in so far as it is between seasons, and consequently it is more difficult to obtain the best quality raw material for the manufacture of butter for this exhibition. The same conditions operate to a lesser extent in the other States. Generally speaking, the quality of the butter was well up to previous standards, and the manufacture and packing showed a very marked improvement.

In the export classes there were, in addition to actual quality, conditions which were designed to bring home to manufacturers the importance of striving for the largest possible yield of commercial butter from the fat purchased from the farmer. As the law permits of 16 per cent. water in butter any exhibit failing to reach 15 per cent. water was disqualified from participation in the awards. Quite a number of the exhibits failed to reach that standard, and were, therefore, not eligible for prizes. I doubt if the position under this heading is improved as compared with last season, notwithstanding that the same conditions operated. As this point has a very important bearing on the question of the returns to dairymen, the following illustration is given of the gains which would result to the industry, from a closer study of the subject.

The term "overrun" is used to express the difference between the quantity of butter fat purchased and the amount of commercial butter manufactured therefrom; for example—if 100 lbs. of fat purchased produce 120 lbs. commercial butter, the overrun is stated to be 20 per cent. For the purpose of this illustration I will take the exhibit showing the lowest percentage of overrun and compare it not with the highest, but the possible, in everyday practice under efficient management.

1. Lowest overrun as shown in exhibits 17.67 per cent 2. Possible overrun under efficient manufacture 22.00 per cent.

and No. 2 factory 122.00 lbs.

The apparent loss incurred by No. 1 factory in pounds of butter is 4.33, which, converted into cash, represents at present market values, $7/11\frac{1}{4}$, or the equivalent of .95d. for every pound of fat purchased. That is, on the basis of the loss in manufacture alone, No. 1 factory would be obliged to pay his suppliers .95d. per lb. for his fat less than a factory working on the standard of No. 2 factory. In other words, the actual loss incurred in manufacturing butter in accordance with the basis laid down in No 2 would enable the factory to distribute the sum of $\frac{1}{4}$ 7/5/4 more for every ton of butter manufactured amongst his suppliers than No. 1 manufacturer, or with a factory having an out-turn of 10 tons of butter weekly, the difference in favour of No. 2 would represent $\frac{1}{4}$ 72/13/4 weekly.

This is a phase of the industry which in the past has not received the amount of attention it deserves, and it occurred to me that this little explanation of the importance of the question would be of interest.

WINES.

W. W. Senior, c/o Matthew Lang & Co., 57 Market Street, Melbourne. C. W. Simmonds, c/o J. Connell & Co., Bourke Street, Melbourne.

T. C. Seabrook, 47 Queen Street, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 89).

The popularity of the Wine Section with growers and merchants was demonstrated by the large number of entries received this year. All the classes were well filled, and with several new names appearing in the list of competitors, the exhibition constituted a record for the century.

The all-round quality of the wines was good, and compared favourably with anything seen during recent years. This was especially noticeable in the Hocks and Chablis in the old bottled classes. Many of them, notably the placed wines showed bottled character and quality reminiscent of the fine Lilydale Wines, which were such a feature at the exhibitions a few years ago. The old bottled Clarets were finer that last year, and in a big entry the average quality was good. Ports kept the high standard set in this section, and were distinguished by the fine quality maintained in an unusually large entry. The prizes were well distributed and some new names gained prominence. In the Sherry exhibit, which was a large one, many wines of good quality and quite a sherry character came before the judges. These wines are distinctly improving, and the advancement from the crude, rough wines of earlier times is most noticeable. More Sparkling wines were shown, and the quality was equal to any previous exhibits. As a well-finished article with delicacy and style there was nothing finer in the Show, and they are worthy of the position they hold in the market. Many promising young wines were in the 1929 classes. All attracted good entries, and the total was practically a record. The classes for 1928 vintage wines was an interesting innovation, and the number of exhibits justified their inclusion in the Schedule. Generally the quality was fair. The entries for both dry and sweet export wines exceeded the average number. The wines were mostly good quality and suitable for export.

The experiment of an Associate Judge was a distinct success.

FRUIT.

APPLES.

J. H. Lang, "Langdale," Harcourt.

F. W. Vear, Graceburn Valley, Healesville.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 91).

Considering the light crop of apples this season, the number of exhibits was as high as could be expected. The condition and quality of the apples generally was up to the standard of previous years, with the exception of a few exhibits. Spray residue was too conspicuous on one or two exhibits. The class for Collection of Apples and Pears attracted only one competitor. The fruit was well up to standard, and on the whole in better condition than that in the other classes. With the exception of the "Granny Smith" variety the apples held up well until the conclusion of the Show. The general excellence of this exhibit speaks well both for those who grew and selected the fruit.

PEARS.

A. F. Thiele, Doncaster.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 92).

On the whole the exhibits were of very fair quality. Entries were not so numerous as previously, no doubt, on account of the bad season. Some exceptionally fine fruit was displayed by the only exhibitor in the class for Collection of Apples and Pears, and it kept remarkably well.

CITRUS FRUITS.

S. A. Cock, 80 St. Helens Street, Upper Hawthorn.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 92).

The quality of the citrus fruits was excellent, and it is gratifying to note the increased competition in the grape fruit and fresh and cured lemon classes.

The small number of entries for the export packing competition is to be regretted, and the absence of competition in the class for collection of citrus fruits is a reflection on the activities of the various district citrus associations.

A citrus display at the Royal Show is of undoubted educational and advertising value. It is understood that next year the Victorian Central Citrus Growers' Association Managers will try and induce the various district associations to stage exhibits, and consequently I suggest that no alteration be made in the prize schedule for the citrus section at next year's Show.

DRIED FRUITS.

R. A. Christian, 14 Queen Street, Melbourne.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 93).

I was pleased with the quality of the Currants, Sultanas and Lexias exhibited. There was only one exhibit of dried Apricots, Peaches, Pears and Prunes, to which I awarded first prize. The quality of the walnuts was very good. I did not consider the exhibit of mixed nuts, consisting of walnuts, filberts and soft shell almonds worthy of a first prize, and I, therefore, awarded it second.

WOMEN'S INDUSTRIES.

FANCY NEEDLEWORK.

Mrs. P. S. Cowper, Norwood, Emerald.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 93).

It is pleasing to note the progress that is being made in thissection. Though some classes were somewhat disappointing, it is a pleasure to judge where the exhibitors attempt new ideads, designs and stiches. The collections of white and coloured embroidery were disappointing. This may be due to the fact that other exhibitions offering bigger prize money were being held at practically the same time. On the whole, the quality of both white and coloured needlework is steadily if slowly going ahead. I should like to see a few classes included in the Schedule for children under 16 and children under 12, for many of these do good work, but cannot compete with the more experienced needlewoman.

FINE ARTS.

Mrs. Theo. Anderson, Barwonside, Murghebuloc.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 96).

As a whole there was a great improvment in the Art Section. There were fewer exhibits, but the standard was higher and the technical qualities very much in advance of previous years. I find that the quality fluctuates very much and I sincerely hope that the present standard will remain, and that entries will increase.

FOODS.

Miss F. Pell, 98 Wellington Street, St. Kilda.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 97).

The large number of entries was well maintained this year. The standard on the whole shows steady improvement and is now quite high. The classes must necessarily be rather limited in scope, as some foodstuffs would not be presentable at the end of the Show. Under the circumstances I cannot recommend any change in the classification. The exhibits of One Woman's Work increased from three to ten, and the displays were very popular with visitors. The standard of the work was good and much originality, domestic and manual art was shown. The list is comprehensive and the allocation of points on the whole adequate.

HUNTING AND JUMPING EVENTS.

H. J. Gidney, "Bangalore," 19 Bay Street, Brighton.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 99).

I regret that in many of the hunting events the exhibits were not so numerous as they have been at many of the previous Shows at which I have judged.

Taking the prize winners on the whole, they were up to the usual standard, but I regret to say that very few horses were competing for the first time, and this proves that good young horses are getting scarce.

ARENA EVENTS (OTHER THAN HUNTING AND JUMPING.)

H. W. Wallder, 137 Burke Road, Canterbury.

(Complete awards in this Section will be found on page 100).

Entries were again numerous and competition very keen, especially in the open high jump, where some particularly good exhibitions of jumping were given.
