Message from the CEO

It is with great excitement and anticipation that we look forward to the 2022 Melbourne Royal Show being held at Melbourne Showgrounds from Thursday 22 September to Sunday 2 October.

After we were unable to hold the Melbourne Royal Show in 2020 and 2021 due to the COVID-19 pandemic, we are committed to making this year's event a huge success for all involved.

We're very much looking forward to once again holding our Melbourne Royal agricultural competitions, in particular the Melbourne Royal Fleece Competition at Melbourne Showgrounds to celebrate excellence in the industry.

The Melbourne Royal Fleece Competition provides woolgrowers with the opportunity to showcase their best fleece during Victoria's largest and most celebrated annual community event. From the ultra-fine Merino to the lustrous Lincoln, the inclusive range of classes ensures that the traditional breeds and the modern styles are on display throughout the 11 days of the Melbourne Royal Show.

As always, the prestige and integrity of the competition is upheld by our panel of esteemed judges who judge the fleece prior to Show. We are most grateful for the judges' commitment to excellence and for volunteering their time.

I thank our Melbourne Royal Fleece Committee for their passion and the ongoing advice, counsel and support that they provide to the Melbourne Royal team. The commitment and enthusiasm of Roger Wilkinson (Chair), and other committee members Helen Wright, Doug Hopkins, Norm Tozer, Ian Shawcross, Tim Steere, Paul Ferronato, Craig Trickey and Samantha Wan, is greatly appreciated and highly valued.

It would not be possible to present the Melbourne Royal Fleece Competition without the support and assistance of everyone involved. I thank and acknowledge all our valued sponsors, partners, officials, volunteers, suppliers and, of course, all exhibitors vying to win coveted Melbourne Royal blue ribbons. Your contributions make this a competition that everyone is proud to be involved in.

I invite you to enter the 2022 Melbourne Royal Fleece Competition and trust that you and your family and friends will enjoy all the fun of the Show.

Brad Jenkins
Chief Executive Officer

Message from the Chair

The Melbourne Royal Fleece Committee is delighted to offer woolgrowers a Melbourne Royal Show fleece competition again in 2022, after two years with no show. The sheep have kept growing wool all this time, so you will have had more fleeces from which to select your best.

We are proud of the diversity of competitions we offer exhibitors. The Australasian Lambs' Wool Championship allows those with a special interest in lambs to benchmark their lambs' wool against the best. The Skirted Fleece Competition offers classes for every type of wool grown in Australia.

In the Black and Coloured Fleece Competition we now use the same judging criteria that have been used to judge white fleeces for many years, which recognises the increasingly high quality of black and coloured fleeces grown today.

The District Fleece Competition is the pinnacle event for champion fleeces from local shows all around Victoria. These fleeces compete for the honour of best fleece in their region and the champion fleeces in each district then compete to decide the Champion District Fleece.

For sheep exhibitors, the Melbourne Royal Fleece Competition provides an additional way to promote your stud. Your fleeces will be on display in the Livestock Pavilion for the entire duration of the Melbourne Royal Show.

The big day for the fleece competition is Friday 9 September 2022. The fleeces are judged in the morning, then we invite fleece exhibitors to join the committee, judges and stewards for lunch and the presentation of awards. The fleeces will still be on the judging tables, which provides exhibitors with an opportunity to handle all the fleeces and compare their entries with others.

It takes many people to stage a great fleece competition. I would like to thank our judges and stewards for their work on judging day, our valued sponsors for their support, and the members of the committee for their work throughout the year. I am proud of the breadth of skills across the committee in the many facets of the wool industry, including woolgrowing, woolclassing, showing, education, wool testing, broking, buying, early stage processing and export. Welcome to new committee members Craig Trickey and Samantha Wan, who joined us since the 2019 show.

I would love to see you and your fleeces on Friday 9 September!

Judging of Lambs' Wool

How to receive the best result

The exhibitor

We would always lamb in April/May, and shear in September of which some of the best lambs wool were kept aside and shown the following year. Although I always felt it was better straight off the lambs to be shown.

My father said if you give the ewes and lambs plenty of room it was a big help along with an early Autumn break.

We would wean the ewes prior to shearing, if they were still with their mothers they tended to put into their bodies rather than the wool which my father described as heavy condition.

It is a big help if you have good numbers of lambs to chose from, I found it very helpful if I could pick out the best lambs and put them aside to shear last. When I did this I put those samples aside until I had time to put into preparing them for show.

Of course working with one shearer to get the lambs wool right was a great help, although at times we have 4 shearers and at one time we shore 1099 lambs in the one day!

When preparing the sample I would shake the sample to get rid of any second cuts, pick any skin pieces out and any pen stain that may have found its way in. I then went and weighed each sample to the required weight of 500 grams. When I was selecting my samples I would look for the best white sample, with good character, a clean butt to tip ratio and a good yielding sample that is very important in lambs wool. The sample was just longer than 2 inches which was good length for Merino lambs, or if they were a stronger lamb then a touch longer is better.

Of course, tipping lambswool is not allowed.

I always tried to get the sample I was going to show from one lamb, there is no points for weight but I always felt a bigger sample looked better.

Of course, always try to shear before you get any grass seed and dust, but I always thought it was best to shear on a sunny day when the wool looked better!

Doug Hopkins

The judge

I have been judging at the show for over 10 years now, I first began as a steward to Mr Ken Woodful who was the Lambs wool judge for many years. I spent many years under Ken's guidance and advice and after some years he handed me the reins of being the Senior Judge for this category.

It has always been a passion of mine to judge this area of the Fleece Competition, as I have been a major buyer of lambs wool for many clients overseas for many years, and I tend to look at the lambs presented to me in a similar manner as a judge and as buyer. I am fortunate the company I work for United Wool Company is now the major sponsor of the Lambs wool category, and still allows me to be part of this great day.

In the buying of lambs wool one main area I look at is the preparation of the wool being presented for sale, the time taken to prepare the line and most importantly the amount of skin present. Skin is a big issue in lamb types, always has been and all of our clients are always asking for us to be careful and avoid any lambs wool that is presented with skin in them.

I take this same approach when I am judging, of course the samples presented to me can be from more than one lamb but I am always on the lookout for the same factors as above.

1. Is the lambs presented in a well prepared line?
2. Is there any skin present in the sample?
3. Has all efforts been made to have a uniform, even and bright sample presented?
4. Does the sample meet all the criteria of being a lambs wool?

If all above is met in the first instance, then it comes down to the extra small contributing factors that can make it stand out from the rest.

Of course not a lot of sample is needed as Doug mentioned 500 grams, but that small amount of sample that is well prepared and stands out from the rest could make you the overall winner of your section.

I say to all the growers out there, get involved as Doug will tell you he has been awarded the overall winner on many occasions and it is a great feeling
